INDICTED FOR MURDER

True Bill Found Against George Genakos of This City

Lowell has another murder case on its hands for this morning, the grand jury returned an indictment against George Genakos for the murder of Aristides Georgeopoulos. During an altercation in Suffolk street four weeks ago Genakos shot and killed Georgeopoulos. He was arrested afterward and through his counsel, D. J. Donahue, pleaded not guilty and setting up the claim of self-defence. The government made the claim of premeditation. As this is a capital offence the trial will take place before two justices and will be specially assigned while a special jury will be empanelled to consider the evidence.

The grand jury made its report at the court house in Gorham street this forenoon with Judge Raymond on the bench and Clerk Ralph Smith also in attendance. It was Judge Raymond's first appearance at a Middlesex county court and it was also unusual for Clerk Smith to attend a criminal session, his presence being due to the illness of John A. Ambrose, who looks after the criminal sessions. Through his experience in all the departments of the court Mr. Smith is called upon to substitute for County Clerk Theodore Hurd in the supreme court when that official is away and for Clerk Ambrose in the criminal court.

The grand jury returned an indictment against John P. Costello, the well known barber for manslaughter in causing the death of Henry E. White in Central street. Costello, who claimed that White had insulted his wife, struck White in the face, knocking him down. As he fell, White's head struck a projection causing a fracture of the skull from which he died.

Lewis Bullikose and Arthur Duchesne were indicted for rape in separate cases.

Joseph J. Johnson was indicted for breaking and entering in the nighttime the store of Michael McDermott and larceny.

Antoine Carell, alias, was indicted on eight counts of larceny from the Massachusetts mills, and from Mrs. Dora M. Gauthier and Mrs. Nellie Murphy. A search of Carell's rooms revealed a wholesale quantity of plunder.

Charles J. Hebert was indicted for breaking and entering in the nighttime the store of Mizeal J. Jodoin, and larceny therefrom of money. Hebert pleaded guilty, but all other defendants pleaded not guilty.

Upon making its report the grand jury adjourned to Cambridge, where it came in at 2 o'clock with its report for the lower end of the county, which this term is unusually large.

The regular session of the criminal court will come in at Lowell on Monday with Judge Raymond on the bench.

IN POLICE COURT

George Watson and Sumner Brown, two young men, were given hearings before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on complaints charging them with drunkenness and assault on Michael Nowacki yesterday morning. Going to the many witnesses summoned and also that some had to testify through an interpreter, the case proved to be a long-drawn-out affair.

The government contended that Watson and Brown assaulted Nowacki in Lakeview avenue near the corner of Bridge street, while on the other hand the defense put forward the claim that the marks on the complainant's face were caused by another person prior to the meeting with Brown and Watson.

Patrolman Michael Lennon testified that about 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning he was attracted to Lakeview avenue near the corner of Bridge street by a crowd of people running in that direction. Hurrying into Lakeview avenue he found a crowd of about 25 people in the street and forcing his way through the crowd he saw Michael Nowacki being held by two men, Nowacki had his hands to his head. Witness, he said, took hold of Nowacki to protect him when Sumner Brown drew off and struck Nowacki in the face. Brown was then hustled away by two of the people in the crowd.

A minute or so later, said Patrolman Lennon, Watson struck Nowacki a terrific blow in the face and then ran into a lunch cart nearby.

Nowacki was taken to his home across the street and later witness, accompanied by Patrolman John Sullivan, placed Brown under arrest. When Brown was taken to the box, witness told Patrolman Sullivan to go over to the lunch cart and place Watson under arrest, which the patrolman did.

Patrolman Patrick Connolly said he was passing on an electric car when he saw the crowd. He got off the car and joined Patrolman Lennon. He did not see any blows struck, but later assisted Patrolman Sullivan in arresting Watson. Witness said that Watson was drunk when placed under arrest and staggered on the way from the lunch cart to the patrol box.

Patrolman John Sullivan, who arrested Watson in the lunch cart in Bridge street, said that Watson was drunk. He said that Brown was also drunk, although it would be difficult to say which was the worse of the two.

Michael Nowacki, with a badly discolored left eye, testified that he entered a lunch cart in Bridge street about 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night. While in there he said he got into an altercation with another man. He with others later left the lunch cart and he said that while he was walking through Bridge street he was assaulted by Brown and Watson.

On cross examination Nowacki denied that he had anything to drink that day other than a "bushel of water."

One of Nowacki's countrymen was then called and he said he saw Brown and Watson strike Nowacki. Witness said that Nowacki was struck by some person prior to being assaulted by Brown and Watson. Later witness denied that he saw Nowacki assaulted by an unknown person.

Violated Probationary Orders
Thomas J. Brown appeared in police court several weeks ago and was placed on probation on condition that he would stop drinking and support his family. Thomas failed to do this, however, and yesterday he was surrendered by Probation Officer Slattery.

In court this morning Brown's wife said that he was drunk last night and the night before and had worked but three days since the Fourth of July. The court decided that it would be a good idea to make an example of people who do not appreciate probation and he ordered Brown to be sentenced to three months in jail. He appealed.

AVIATION MEET

Sketches by the Sun artist at Atlantic yesterday

PERSPECTIVE VIEW OF THE AVIATION FIELD AT ATLANTIC AS SEEN FROM THE MARSHES WHERE THOUSANDS ASSEMBLED TO WATCH THE FLIGHTS. BROOKINS IS SEEN HIGH IN THE AIR AND CURTISS AND WHITE FLYING LOW.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston Makes Flight With Grahame-White

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—Appraised by the president of the United States and cheered by 25,000 people, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, as Grahame-White's passenger, made a spectacular flight three times around the Squantum aviation field yesterday afternoon.

As the Farman biplane with the city's chief dignitary aboard swooped and circled over the heads of the great crowds President Taft waved his hand in answer.

"The mayor, never for a moment losing his delighted smile, with the greatest self-possession, answered the friendly waves of encouragement by waving his handkerchief and then his hat."

After he had alighted safely—to the intense relief of those who watched him, breath-bated at his daring—he stepped from the machine, which Grahame-White had wheeled to a stop directly in front of the president's chair, and received the congratulations of President Taft.

The crowds went wild. In the bandstand the musicians were working their hardest to sound out "Sweet Adeline," but could not be heard above the clamor of the crowd.

While everyone was yelling louder than ever before the mayor and Grahame-White, who carried off the honors for another day of the great meet, chatted with the president. Seated by the mayor, Grahame-White invited Mrs. Taft to trust herself in the machine for a short spin.

The courteous offer of the English aviator was naturally declined. Mrs. Taft seemed almost willing, but looked to the president to learn that he would be too worried.

The president had earlier in the afternoon put a check on Charles Taft's aspirations to fly.

Charles was on the field several hours ahead of his father and he was about to step into a biplane when the president drove up and placed a fatherly veto on the effort.

"But it is perfectly safe," said Grahame-White, when he was introduced and started to add his plea to that of the boy at his side.

To entertain the distinguished guests, the aviators put their machines through the best paces. All the time the president remained on the grounds, seated in the tonneau of his big auto, some one of the birdmen circled and hovered in the sky, and at times four of them at once swooped and soared, to the unrestrained delight of the president.

Just before the president and his party left, Brookins, who had been climbing into the clouds for attitude, treated President Taft to one of the spectacular volcanic descents.

He had been climbing for nearly an hour, and had reached an altitude above the lower strata of clouds. Then he commenced to descend, not in a widening spiral, but in sharp, hair-raising swoops.

Shoots Down Like Shot

The little speck started down tilted sharply, coasting at an angle of 45 degrees. For a couple of hundred feet it shot at terrific speed that made the speck grow rapidly big.

Suddenly the dark speck flashed brightly as the machine banked, checking the wild downward swoop with a complete circle.

Again it started down, again gathering speed.

The sight was breathless. The biplane, travelling at the speed of the motor, and with the acceleration of gravity, shot down, down, down, faster and faster, and then brought up with a complete circle that couldn't have taken more than two seconds.

After the second circle, at the end of the second wild ride down from the sky, the plane bulked larger in the sky. Even Brookins, in the seat, could be distinguished, a little dot between the planes.

In the third swoop the daring of the descent could be readily appreciated.

The machine tilted down. It raced rapidly into clearer view till one could almost imagine the whirling of the cleared air. Then it came, the increasing speed easily noticeable. Then, when it had attained its greatest velocity, it brought up with that breath-catching whiff, standing through the curve on its very beam ends.

Catching its equilibrium again, it swooped on the last lap down. This time the sharp descent swung into a graceful swoon and at about 100 feet above the ground the machine soared about, wheeling and circling in graceful flight.

From the height it had taken nearly an hour to reach, he had dropped in four volplanes, in a couple of minutes, scarcely more than a long breath.

Flight Delights Taft

General Nelson A. Miles, chatting with the president, had just described a flight he had seen Brookins make at Sheephead. Even while the general talked, Brookins was noting it all out to the delight of President Taft.

Up he climbed, flashing light from the silvered airplane, up and up.

As he circled in the spiral ascent, he whirled through a low lying cloud. The machine dimmed, like the print of a photographic plate that has been taken out of focus.

The machine blurred more and more,

For a second it ran into a thicker spot and disappeared.

Now Taft, with a gleam from the aluminum blades flashed through the thin cloud. Then, like a silver bird, it flashed completely into view, glinting sunlight.

The president lay back in the seat of the tonneau and followed the manibled with his eye, while General Miles told of the flight that he had witnessed.

While Brookins was holding attention by his climbing, Grahame-White took his monoplane into the sky for a try at altitude. He remained up but a short while and climbed only high enough to make second place in the altitude contest for the day.

Milk Dealer Put Out of Business, Temporarily

To Stop Spread of Typhoid in the Highlands—Milk on Hand Sent Into Sewer—Blood Test of Employees Being Taken

At a special meeting of the board of health held last night at the office of the board chairman, Dr. G. Forrest Martin, a Lowell milk dealer was voted out of business. The board alleges that the milk distributed by this dealer is responsible for the typhoid fever now prevalent in this city. The board said that the man, after the board became cognizant of the fact that his milk was responsible for the typhoid, refused to do business under the proper and necessary precautions.

The board is taking and intends to take the most drastic measures to prevent a further spread of the dreaded typhoid. Besides being put out of business, temporarily, the dealer has been ordered to fumigate all buildings used in his milk business, to collect all bottles from his customers and sterilize them, to discharge his present help and hire new help for time being and to send his cows to some other place until all danger of contagion has passed.

Customers of the dealer in question awoke this morning to find themselves without the usual supply of milk at the door and it was but natural for them to suppose that the milk had been stolen. A little later, however, a man came around and told the milkless customers they would have to go milk elsewhere for the time being as he had had some trouble with the board of health.

In the course of its investigations the board found that one of the employees of the dealer had typhoid and the board will make blood tests of all who have had anything to do with the handling of milk at his place.

The dealer has a herd of 30 cows and besides the milk produced by those he takes from eight producers located in the surrounding towns. The board says it was through one of these producers that the dealer's milk became contaminated in the first place, through no fault of the dealer's, but owing to an indiscriminate use of the milk cans, all of the dealer's milk cans and bottles are under suspicion and all milk under suspicion has been destroyed at the orders of the board of health.

Between 400 and 500 quarts have been going out from the Lowell dealer to families covered by his three routes and it is known that two catering es-

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Now that the legislative committee appointed to search for evidence of graft among their colleagues and state officers has commenced its hearings about interest is being taken in the outcome. The books of Ellingwood & Cunningham, stockholders, alleged to have been favored with the accounts of several legislators who are supposed to have favored certain legislation sought by public service corporations, have been examined, and several witnesses have told of the transactions of the accused legislators. William W. Cole was one of these witnesses and is said to have disclosed much of a sensational nature. M. Linn Bruce, chief counsel for the committee, is probing the charges with tabulations and one large ice cream dealer have been users of the infected milk.

The board, however, has taken unusual precautions to stem the tide of disease and any cases which may develop within the next two weeks, the board says, will be due to the tainted milk used before conditions were revealed to the board.

THE CHARTER OAK

Big Prize Was Captured By General H.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 9.—Before the largest crowd that has seen the Grand Circuit horses this season, General H. from far-away Calgary, out-raced a good field in the $10,000 Charter Oak stake yesterday in 2:08½, 2:08, 2:06. The Canadian stallion never was in serious trouble, but the finishes were close enough to enthrall the spectators, who were lined a quarter of a mile on both sides of the homestretch besides filling grandstand and bleachers.

Ulian did not make his scheduled attempt to lower the wagon record, as the track was slow, being very damp under the top coating. This was disappointing to the crowd; but the racing sent every one away satisfied for, although the four events were settled in straight heats, the sport was about the most interesting that has been seen so far this season.

An airship shared honors with the horses. Frank Coffey in a Wright monoplane making three very interesting flights. The machine was in the air within a few seconds of 15 minutes on each trial flying over the infield in every direction, and at one time it reached an altitude of 800 feet.

The Charter Oak drew a field of 11 to the post, where first one bad actor and then another made 10 scores necessary. The 4-year-old Soprano was at the pole, with General H. fourth and Gamar on the outside. The Hoosier pony has been very sick and appeared so drawn that opinion as to his chance of winning changed, sending the horse from the northwest away favorite.

Ario Leyburn rushed off fast, taking the rail position at once, but the clip was more than he could stand, a break putting him out of the hunt. Hane then moved General H. along, keeping him in front till the finish. Gamar closed on him in the stretch, but was finally nosed out for second place by Bivolo.

Gamar made a splendid try for the prize the next heat, taking the pole going away and keeping it, but when it came to the test in the last few strides he was too weak to stall off the General.

Ario Leyburn and Demares raced side by side clear into the stretch in the third mile, only to die away, leaving the battle to more valiant racers. The finish was one of the heat of the year. General H. just barely getting home in front of Soprano, who was flanked by Alice Roosevelt, Gamar and Bivolo, the going being so close that opinion was divided as to how the judges would place the horses.

General H. is owned by W. M. Parslow of Calgary, Alberta, and comes from the family of Electioneer. This season, as last, he received his circuit training racing against pacers over half-mile tracks in Canada. He is a capital race horse and obtained his record of 2:07½ at New York two weeks ago.

As companion pieces to the Charter Oak, the management carded the 2:05 pace, 2:11 and 2:20 trotters. The last one proved faster than the better known ones, Captain Cate, owned by W. H. Guilford of Syracuse, N. Y., being forced into the 2:10 list by the Massachusetts gelding, Creighton, while Startle did not have to go out of his class to land three close finishes from Justo and Melva J.

Earl Jr. was much the best of the fast pacing field, but Cox drew the line very fine at the wire, so as to keep the gray horse in the 2:06 class. It was a close shave, as he had to step twice in 2:05½. The summary:

FAVORITES LOSE

BELVASIA EASILY WINS HER RACE AT HILLSGROVE

HILLSGROVE, R. I., Sept. 9.—Favorites fared very badly in two of yesterday's races. Belvasia, the stout daughter of Bingara, that won Wednesday in the 2:23 trot and broke the track record, won the 2:19 trot yesterday, with Velozora at her wheel in every mile. Belvasia was never extended to the limit, and could have gone at least two seconds faster.

The 2:13 pace scheduled for today did not fill, and a free-for-all was put on in place of it. Red Bow was made a top-heavy favorite, but was very bad, finishing third in the first heat and being shut out in the second. He would not stay on his feet. Caffeno, neglected in the betting, won this race in four heats, surprising the talent.

Another dark horse, County Beater, captured the 2:19 pace in straight heats. The favorite, Short Order, landed second in the first two heats and third in the last.

After the 2nd heat the judges took down Hayden, driver of Short Order, and asked Merrifield, driver of Caffeno, to take the horse. Tyniden, however, went into the stand and convinced the judges that he was driving to win, so he was again given permission to drive before the heat was run off.

County Beater was acting very badly, and would not turn after a score. It was only Van Houten's superb horsemanship that landed him in first place in three heats.

Abner Potter, a 16-year-old lad, electrified the crowd in the last heat of the race by his great drive with his own horse Ramona. He was in fourth place at the turn into the stretch, but passed Short Order and Bohemia and landed second place in a whipping finish, almost nipping County Beater.

The 2:21 trot, of which four heats were raced Wednesday, was won by Crash, the favorite. Attempts were again made to cause Crash to break by shouting, but they were unsuccessful.

The races for today are the 2:15 trot, 2:15 pace and 2:24 trot. The summary:

RACED IN THE DARK

WORCESTER, Sept. 9.—Racing until it was so dark as to make it almost impossible for the judges to read the numbers, the card at the New England fair was completed yesterday afternoon.

An accident in the running race caused a big sensation, but proved to be nothing serious. John McNamee, riding Veruna in the half mile race, lost control of his horse and the animal ran half way round the track and then threw the rider. McNamee was unconscious for more than an hour and was taken to the City hospital, where his injuries were found to be slight. The horse ran out of the fair grounds and into the woods, but was captured and ran in the heat, which had been held up. The racing on the regular card was not exciting, and, with one exception, the events were decided in straight heats.

Aileen Wilson, 2:02½, the famous pacing mare that took the Readville handicap this year, driven by Coakley, her owner, went against the track record of 2:07½ yesterday, but failed in two attempts to lower the mark. Her time for both heats was 2:10½. In the last mile, after a break, she finished the last quarter in 31.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Elevator Pins Workman by the Head

Causing His Body to Turn a Somersault Onto Floor of Elevator—The Victim Escapes Without Any Bad Results

It's several days since the incident occurred, but the miraculous escape of a workman named Bernier, employed on the construction of the new Massachusetts store house, has not previously been made public.

It seems that where Bernier was at work is an elevator which fortunately for him is located in an elevator well much larger than the floor of the elevator itself so that there is an open space of about one foot on all sides between the four ends of the elevator floor and the floor of the building. A few days ago Bernier was doing some work on one of the upper floors at the elevator well, of such a nature as to require him to lie flat on his stomach with his head downward in the open space of the well. Bernier upon starting on the work supposed that the elevator was below him when as a matter of fact it was above him. He was working away blissfully ignorant of any impending danger when the elevator started to come down noiselessly from the floor above. The man on the elevator couldn't see Bernier lying under him nor could Bernier hear the elevator above him, with the result that when it reached the floor upon which Bernier was lying it struck him on the back of the head and carried his head down until it caused him to turn a complete somersault, his body landing on the floor of the elevator and proceeding with it below.

The elevator was stopped at the next floor and workmen who witnessed the accident rushed to the well, expecting to pick up a dead body. But Bernier only slightly stunned upon regaining his feet only rubbed his head and returned to his work. That night when he went home he experienced a choking sensation when he retired for the night, but he awoke all right in the morning and has been at work ever since, apparently no worse for his miraculous escape. He kept the story to himself for several days, expecting that some bad result might show itself in the meantime, but now he is convinced that it was not his time to die and that he had passed through an experience which only one man in a hundred would go through without fatal result.

WILL TAKE VEIL A TEN STRIKE

A Lowell Girl Enters Notre Dame Novitiate Though Not on Any Local Bowling Alley

Miss Anna Cahill of Westford street, the talented daughter of the late Edw. Cahill, left Wednesday for Waltham, where she enters the novitiate of the Notre Dame nuns. After taking the postulant's veil Miss Cahill will proceed to the mother-house of the order in Cincinnati for her novitiate, where her aunt, Rev. Sister Francis, of the Sacred Heart, is provincial of the western province of the order. Miss Cahill was graduated from Notre Dame Academy this year and is an exceptionally talented young woman. Her brother, Joseph Cahill, also left last evening for the college of the Marist Brothers at Granby, Que., having this season completed his course at the preparatory school of the Sisters of Mercy in Manchester, N. H. The two sons of Undertaker Archambault and several other Lowell students departed at the same time, all going on a special car attached to the 8.08 train out of Lowell, which picked up many students between Boston and its destination.

GREAT RACE BETWEEN THIS PAIR FOR THE BATTING HONORS OF THE COUNTRY

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—The race for the batting honors of the American league this season is the most interesting ever held in the junior organization. Early in the campaign it looked as if Larry Lajoie of the Naps would make a runaway race of it. As the season lengthened he fell off in his stick work and was passed by Ty Cobb of Detroit. The latter held the lead for about two months, but now has been overtaken by Lajoie. The former leader of the Naps is hitting the ball at a great rate, and many critics are of the opinion that not only will he capture the batting honors of the American league and also the premier sphere of wallowing honors of the country, but he will have the honor of riding around in the buzz wagon offered to the man that leads the country in stick work. Lajoie's average is .367 and Cobb's .365. Cobb's friends' excuse for the latter's falling off in his batting is that he is having trouble with his right eye. According to Ty Cobb's physician, there is no danger that the sensational outfielder of the Tigers is going blind in the right eye. The optic is slightly affected by inflammation, which a few days' rest is expected to cure. Cobb has been advised to "lay off" for a week or so. A recent examination by specialists, however, developed the startling fact that Cobb's right eye is practically useless to the great outfielder. The right eye is unusually nearsighted. Jennings would welcome eight or ten more players afflicted with the same malady.

$3,000,000 DEBT
Capital is Said to Be $10,000

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 9.—Sensational evidence relative to the details of the alleged fraudulent methods of the defunct Steele-Miller company, cotton factors at Corinth, Miss., developed during the taking of depositions in the U. S. bankruptcy court here yesterday. Figures compiled by an expert accountant show that the liabilities of the firm exceed the assets by more than $3,000,000, and that the working capital of the Steele-Miller company did not exceed $10,000. No effort has been made to ascertain how far back the series of alleged frauds perpetrated on European spinners extends, but testimony has been given that the Steele-Miller company entered the new cotton year on Sept. 1, 1909, with a shortage of 10,000 bales. In other words, they are charged with having issued bogus bills of lading for this amount of cotton that did not exist.

TO SELL NAVAL VESSELS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The most historic naval vessels, the Bennington and the Eagle, have been ordered stricken from the naval list and sold. The Bennington is the craft on which an explosion occurred, resulting in heavy loss of life. She has not been in commission since. The Eagle is the old Mohawk, built 35 years ago. Once while the Mohawk was lying off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, a small steamer hit her and caused great damage. At least two persons of the party aboard were drowned and Miss Edith May, later wife of Secretary of the Navy Whitney, had a narrow escape.

DIAMOND NOTES

Worcester today

We're safely in the first division, but we can't pass Worcester.

Don't miss the closing games of the season.

Manager Gray telephoned The Sun yesterday that a double-header would be played Saturday. If such is the case, Lowell can tie Worcester, but if the game is not a postponed game that is owed to Lowell, Worcester may decline to play and our third place aspirations are all off.

Grandpa Lake and the Doves will play here on Monday and a goodly crowd will be there.

"There's one of the sweetest young catchers I ever saw."

That's Connie Mack talking, and the object of his laudatory sentence is Edwin Adams, the backstop that McAleer secured from Lawrence, Mass. How this young prize escaped the attention of the New England scouts is a caution to me.

Ainsmith throws with his elbow, a short stab, the ball flying with the speed of a rifle. Nineteen times out of 20, he jams the ball right at the base, and when he nips the base runners he traps them half way to second. He made Ty Cobb look like an old man, and Eddie Collins, too, seemed like a venerable pedestrian when stacked against this kid.

Here is a straight story about this boy. He's only 20 years old, and he gives promise of becoming one of the stellar backstops of any league. Two years ago he was traveling with Tompkins in the Eastern league, and he looked so young in appearance that the manager was ashamed to carry him, on the ground of being arrested for kidnapping. For this reason he was canned, went to Lawrence and is now in major company, where he will stay for some time.—New Bedford Times.

Grandpa Lake and the Doves will play here on Monday and a goodly crowd will be there.

"There's one of the sweetest young catchers I ever saw."

Ainsmith throws with his elbow, a short stab, the ball flying with the speed of a rifle. Nineteen times out of 20, he jams the ball right at the base, and when he nips the base runners he traps them half way to second. He made Ty Cobb look like an old man, and Eddie Collins, too, seemed like a venerable pedestrian when stacked against this kid.

Here is a straight story about this boy. He's only 20 years old, and he gives promise of becoming one of the stellar backstops of any league. Two years ago he was traveling with Tompkins in the Eastern league, and he looked so young in appearance that the manager was ashamed to carry him, on the ground of being arrested for kidnapping. For this reason he was canned, went to Lawrence and is now in major company, where he will stay for some time.—New Bedford Times.

N. E. LEAGUE STANDING

Worcester today

We're safely in the first division, but we can't pass Worcester.

Don't miss the closing games of the season.

Manager Gray telephoned The Sun yesterday that a double-header would be played Saturday. If such is the case, Lowell can tie Worcester, but if the game is not a postponed game that is owed to Lowell, Worcester may decline to play and our third place aspirations are all off.

Grandpa Lake and the Doves will play here on Monday and a goodly crowd will be there.

FORT MONROE, Va., Sept. 9.—Another of those tragedies which go to show that the sailor offers his life to his country in time of peace as well as in war, was enacted yesterday on the dreadnought North Dakota, when about 12 miles from Old Point, in lower Chesapeake bay, an explosion of fuel oil and the ensuing fire cost the lives of three men and more or less serious injuries to nine others, including Lieut. Com. Orin G. Murlin.

The accident happened far from any shore, and for several hours the wildest rumors circulated through the community; that having widespread circulation being to the effect that the Delaware, sister ship of the North Dakota, had been blown up.

Admiral Schroeder's Report

Rear Admiral Sinton Schroeder, commanding the Atlantic fleet, late yesterday made the following statement of the accident:

"Between 10.30 and 11 o'clock this morning oil from room No. 3 in the North Dakota caught fire while the first squadron of the Atlantic fleet was making passage from the Southern drill grounds to Hampton Roads.

"Under request from the commander of the North Dakota, the commander-in-chief of the fleet immediately ordered the North Dakota to leave the fleet formation and the battleship New Hampshire put near to render assistance in case it could be of service.

"No assistance was necessary, and by 11.30 o'clock the fire on the North Dakota was under control.

"It has not yet been ascertained how the fire started, although it is believed that the disaster was not due to any carelessness of the men on the North Dakota. A board of inquiry was named to investigate the accident, consisting of Capt. C. A. Core of the Delaware, senior officer; Lieut. Commander C. V. Price of the Delaware and Lieut. Commander A. M. Proctor of the Connecticut. This board will thoroughly look into the cause of the explosion."

Three Killed Outright

After naming the dead and injured, stating that the three who were dead were "killed outright," Admiral Schroeder adds:

"The injured men are all expected to recover. Lieut. Commander Orin G. Murlin was in the fire room at the time of the accident and was burned, but not seriously.

The commander-in-chief immediately upon the anchoring of the squadron proceeded on the supply tender Yankton to the North Dakota to personally attend the operations. The fire was completely under control before he arrived, and after ascertaining as many facts as possible, he returned to the Connecticut in Hampton Roads.

The North Dakota, shortly after the accident, anchored off Thimble shoal light-house. The wounded men, who are severely but not seriously burned, were removed from the North Dakota to the hospital ship Solace and are receiving the best medical attention."

Admiral Schroeder's report added that the fuel oil caught apparently near the settling tank. Oil fuel was being used for test at the time only on boiler No. 1.

The settling tank is part of a double-bottomed compartment in which the fuel oil is carried in bulk.

Fire on Ship in May Last

In each fire room are two 250-gallon tanks into which the oil is pumped to be settled. It is then pumped into the fire.

The North Dakota had a fire once before since she was launched in November, 1907. That was on May 13 last, at the Boston navy yard, when a red-hot rivet dropped into ground cork in one of the after magazines, while the ship was in dry dock. The prompt response of her men to the ship's fire call resulted in quick extinguishment and averted a threatened calamity.

The North Dakota's magazines are lined with cork, sheathed inside.

Capt. Albert Gleaves, who commands the North Dakota, is a Tennesseean, who formerly commanded the St. Louis, and was until recently naval aide to Asst. Sec. Winthrop of the navy department. He has had 37 years of naval service, including 19 years at sea.

The North Dakota is a first-class battleship and was launched from the yard of the Fore River shipbuilding company Nov. 10, 1908. She has a length over all of 538 feet 9 inches and a displacement of 20,000 tons, 2000 tons in excess of the original British Dreadnought.

She carries 24 guns and has engines of 25,000 horse power. It was estimated that when formally taken over by the government from the builders the North Dakota cost at least $7,000,000, the contract price of her hull and machinery alone being $4,377,000.

street. His hoop rolled between the wheels of Orr's wagon, which was moving along slowly. The boy tried to get the hoop, tripped and fell under the wheels. He was taken to the City hospital. He sustained a fracture of the skull.

At midnight at the hospital it was reported that the injured boy was just coming out of the ether after an operation which it was found necessary to perform in an effort to save his life.

that date, the policy of curtailment will be further continued until it becomes effective. Nearly 4,000,000 spindles were represented at the meeting.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Col. Roosevelt is out of his element in criticizing the decisions of the supreme court of the United States. In doing so he strikes at the foundation of law and order which is based on popular respect for the law and the courts of justice.

DOESN'T LIKE ROOSEVELT'S NEW IDEA

President Taft is not in line with Roosevelt's new nationalism. He says it is best to hold to the limitations of the constitution which makes sacred the rights of the states. He is not so much in favor of federal control as is Roosevelt who wants federal supervision of affairs that properly belong to the sovereign states.

TO REDEEM THE FIFTH DISTRICT

As we have already pointed out, there are unmistakable indications of an approaching democratic landslide throughout the country.

The question with the democrats hereabout is whether the Fifth district will awake from its lethargy, or whether it will continue to be represented in congress by a republican whose vote and influence is usually cast in the interests of the trusts and plutocrats that rule this country and even control congress.

There will be a splendid opportunity to redeem the Fifth district in the coming election. If the democrats put up a strong candidate he can undoubtedly be elected. If they put up a weak candidate he will just as surely be defeated. If the party makes a mistake at the primaries, then it is useless to hope for victory. Mr. Ames wants a weak candidate as an opponent as he will then have little to fear. With the right kind of a candidate there is no reason why he cannot be defeated.

The democratic party at the present time has a strong platform to stand upon, and strong charges to make against the republicans as a party.

We have had no democratic representative in this district since Cleveland's day when Moses T. Stevens was the representative from the Fifth district. Mr. Stevens was elected on the democratic tidal wave, and a good man can be similarly elected to congress this fall if the democrats will only do their duty.

SEND ABLE MEN TO THE SCHOOL BOARD

Let us forget, let us thus early remark that it would be well for the democrats of this city, who are gerrymandered into a minority, to send a few of their very best men to the school board.

It is fresh in the minds of our citizens how one of the most radical changes put through by the school board in years was engineered by a few republicans and clinched almost before the democrats awoke to what was going on.

If there had been even one vigorous kicker among the democrats on such underhand work would have been attempted.

The training school which for years had been regarded as the cornerstone of the merit system in the election of teachers was abolished and nine grammar masters were chosen as supervisors with the sole power of selecting the teachers who shall work under them.

There is another provision, to wit, that no teacher is eligible for employment in the schools of Lowell unless she has had successful practice of at least one year outside Lowell. Practice in Lowell will not count. But if a teacher can secure a position in the schools of Braintree, Methuen, Dunstable or Frogtown and complete a year's work in a manner that will satisfy the farmers and "scolecmen" then she is eligible for high honors in the schools of Lowell.

Now what does all this mean but a bar against the employment of Lowell girls in the local schools? They must have had experience elsewhere, and that means that they must come recommended by the school or other officials of some city or town.

What does such a recommendation amount to?

The teacher must be very delinquent and unpopular who cannot get a good recommendation on leaving a country school. If she be diplomatic she can be very gracious towards the committee which, when the time comes, may give her a "boost." She can tell the farmers that their children are very bright and destined for great careers. That will make her popular for all time with the farmers so complimented.

The fact is, that under the present rule of the school board any teacher who has taught a year outside Lowell, provided she be well recommended, can find a place in the schools of Lowell whether her actual qualifications be as represented or not.

It has often been the case that the worst teacher in such cases can procure the best testimonials, a fact that proves beyond a doubt that the rule adopted by the school board is not a safe one by any means. Nor do we believe that a visit by one of the supervisors to the teacher's home followed by a personal interview will enable him to pass upon her merits as a teacher.

The only way in which a teacher can be properly tested is by work in the class room under skilled supervision.

The school board would have shown better judgment if it had provided for the appointment of Normal school graduates on probation, and required them to rotate among the schools, the grammar masters to pass upon the work of all the probation teachers in their respective schools. In this way the average of the supervisory reports for each probationary teacher should fix her standard, provided all worked as nearly as possible under like conditions.

The school board, for some reason, left three grammar masters out of the list of supervisors, although as a successful principal at least one of those omitted has no superior in Lowell.

It is to rectify whatever is wrong in this rule and to prevent any such counter-jumping tactics in the future that we would urge upon the democrats the necessity of sending their ablest men to the school board.

SEEN AND HEARD

F. Hopkinson Smith, painter, author, engineer and professional optician, tells a story showing that Boston boys of the street are like all others. He overheard a conversation between two youngsters selling newspapers.

"Say, Harry, what's the best way to teach a girl how to swim?" asked the younger one.

"Come off, she's me sister."

"Aw, push her off de dock."

The other day a family were sending their furniture to storage, and one of the energetic members of the household labelled in enormous black painted letters each burlapped article. As the wagon went down the street the crate on the tailboard loudly proclaimed "Ethel's Washstand" in letters fully a foot high.

A negress, very fat and well along in years, sauntered into the lobby of a Broadway theatre the other day and asked for the manager.

"What can I do for you, mammy?" asked the manager.

"I want a ticket into the gallery, boss," she replied calmly.

"But why should I give you a ticket?"

"Cos I'm a retired actress."

"You? What did you do?" inquired the other in amusement and Cleopatra.

"I played in 'Antony and Cleopatra.' I was fan bearer for Miss Fanny Davenport."

She got her ticket.

Thomas F. Garvey, chairman of the West Centralville Improvement association, was one of many to welcome the first car over the new line in West Centralville, and, in a communication to The Sun, Mr. Garvey remarks that after a long struggle it looks as if West Centralville is coming into her own. Mr. Garvey, as a proud father, states, and with pardonable pride, that when the Greenhalge school opens, six of his children will attend that school. The children are: Margaret May Garvey, 13 years old, 8th grade; Thomas M., 12, 8th grade; Harold J., 10, 8th grade; Raymond F., 8, 4th grade; John H., 7, 2nd grade; George S., 5, 1st grade.

With this splendid array of children it is little wonder that Mr. Garvey would be enthusiastically interested in the development of the section in which he lives.

Speaking of laughable legal cases, some time since a prominent lawyer told of the proceedings for failure to renew his dog license against a man who lives in a small town.

The man, according to the lawyer, owned a fine collie. When he failed to renew the license at the appointed time charges were made against him by the proper authority, and he was taken into a magistrate's court. Finally the magistrate turned to him.

"Do you wish it understood," said he, "that you refuse to renew your dog license?"

"Yes," answered the defendant, "but—"

"Buts don't go in this court," broke in the magistrate. "You must renew your dog license or be fined. It expired nearly two months ago."

"So did the dog," was the startling rejoinder of the defendant. "Do I have to renew him, too?"

A delightful impromptu musical was held at the studio of Mr. Louis Grunewald, Jr. in Central street a few evenings ago at which the talent consisted of Messrs. John and Chris Hagan, Mr. William Mallinson, Mr. Grunewald and a few other congenial spirits. Mr. John Hagan and Mr. Mallinson are from Southbridge, Mass. and were on a periodical visit to Mr. Hagan's brother, Chris. In the old days when both brothers were residents of Lowell they will be much sought after at social gatherings, Mr. John Hagan being the possessor of a beautiful and finely trained baritone voice while Chris is an expert on the piano. Hence the musical reunion which included a pleasing program by both brothers, and songs and recitations by Mr. Mallinson. Mr. Grunewald's contribution to the program was a most acceptable program of classical and popular music on his Bohning interior player.

NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY

For All Skin Troubles

A chemist who was convinced that the old method of taking internal remedies to cure skin diseases was erroneous, has discovered that an extract from a particular part of a well-known tree possessed antiseptic and curative properties on the skin tissues. It was, however, found that this valuable vegetable extract was difficult to compound with other ingredients necessary to present it in a form convenient to use. After further investigations and experiments a method of special treatment was devised, resulting in a combination of ingredients possessing to a marked degree valuable therapeutic properties, the like of which has never before been produced. This important product is known as Cadum. Since its introduction by Mr. Mallinson, Mr. Grunewald's contribution to the program was a most acceptable program of classical and popular music on his Bohning interior player.

The juvenile court is a growth, an evolution, as it were, out of the necessities and needs of modern conditions and cities. To this result many good people have contributed—many who do not get half the credit to which they are entitled. It does follow, however, that in the final analysis a juvenile court in one city may be an entirely different thing from a juvenile court in another city. Conditions differ, and the method of work must in a measure differ. But, after all, any juvenile court is largely the judge and the officers who constitute it. The most important thing is the work: that character of personal work that, regardless of statutes and laws, is necessary to get results. This no man founded or ever can found. It must come from the hearts of those who are equipped by natural temperament, which, of course, may be greatly aided by experience, work and education.

I have always insisted and insist now that the public has been all too generous in giving certain men credit for the children's court and what it has done. This sort of generosity has been very encouraging whether it is deserved or not, but nevertheless I have repeatedly sought to correct the conferring of titles which do not belong to me having felt even more embarrassed at being credited with things to which I am not entitled than in being denied the credit of something to which I might be entitled.—Judge Lindsey in The Survey.

PROTEST MADE

AGAINST THE EXILE GOVERNING TEXTILE IMPORTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Modifications of the customs regulations on textile imports from Europe were partially drafted during a conference at the treasury department yesterday. When complete the proposed changes will be sent to Sec. MacVeagh at Dublin, N. H., for his attention. If he approves the amended ruling he will probably recommend it to the state department.

While the full import of the modifications did not become known, there is authority that all the points of objection which were raised by the English and French importers were taken up and, it is believed, their objections met, although the principle of requiring type samples on all standard textiles to be deposited at American consulates and ports of entry is rigidly adhered to.

Ambassador Jusserand has received cables from the French foreign office to take the question up with the state department. Ambassador Bryce apparently was satisfied that the outcome of the controversy would be satisfactory to British interests, for he left the country recently for an extended visit in South America.

The conference yesterday with Asst. Sec. Charles D. Miller was attended by experts of the customs division and representatives of the general board of appraisers of New York.

VOYONS THEATRE

Shows Pictures on Clean
and Unclean Milk

At the Voyons theatre this week is being shown a reel of very interesting pictures, illustrating how disease is spread from milk that is handled in a careless or uncleanly manner, showing first the dirty, slovenly, unsanitary conditions under which milk is produced in some places and then sold in big cities. Then comes the reform under which the cows are cleanly stabled, fed with wholesome feed and milked by men who have due regard for cleanliness. The men who handle the milk are dressed in immaculate white and the milk is disposed of by mechanical methods without being touched by any human hand until it is delivered in sealed bottles to the consumer.

Of course there must be some definite plot to a story of this kind and accordingly the pictures represent an old farmer who is careless as to the condition of his cow barns, who does not keep his cattle clean, who does not feed them as they should be fed. His cows are milked with pails of rubbish and

GEHARD IS DEAD

Was One of New York's Best Known Clubmen

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Frederick Gehard, for years one of the best-known clubmen in New York, died yesterday at Garden City, L. I., where he had been stopping since last spring, in the hope of benefiting his health.

Frederick Gehard, who was one of the most conspicuous New Yorkers for the past quarter of a century, was the son of a butcher who through shrewdness accumulated a fortune. His son spent it, "Freddie," as everybody called him, was handsome in his early years.

He was born about 53 years ago in New York and all his life was spent there except for temporary absences. He was one of the most active clubmen in the city and at one time was able to spend, according to report, $100,000 a year.

A quarter of a century ago Mr. Gehard entertained largely at his city and country residences and on his steam yacht.

Mr. Gehard's first love affair of which there is newspaper record was with Miss Louise Jerome, now Mrs. Jack Leslie. They were engaged for a year. Then Lily Langtry came to this country in 1882 with a chaparrone. In the course of her second week's appearance here Gehard was introduced to her.

Followed Her With Horses

The actress fell in love with his horses. She enjoyed her first sleigh ride behind a pair from his stables. He apparently fell in love with her. He followed her from town to town on her American tour, always taking the horses along with him. They lived at the same hotels. He had several fights on Lily's account and their relations made one of the chief topics of club gossip. The chaparrone gave up her responsibilities and went back to Europe alone.

The friendship between Mr. Gehard and the actress lasted 10 or 12 years and was the cause of much remark. They had adjoining ranches in California. The break came when Gehard married Miss Morris in 1894.

Mrs. Langtry bought 4200 acres in Lake county, California, in 1887, when she expected to establish a residence there, and get the divorce which she later secured. Mr. Gehard bought an adjoining ranch of 3300 acres. She paid $51,000 in cash, and Mr. Gehard paid $44,000. Soon after the purchase they both built houses on the ranches and stocked them with horses and cattle.

They hired Dr. Aby, an eccentric Kentuckian, to manage the ranches. Some time later Dr. Aby left New York with $300,000 worth of Mr. Gehard's favorite saddle horses. The train was wrecked and nearly half the choice animals were killed. The losses were repaired, and thousands of dollars were spent in the manager neglected the ranches, and in 1894 a large lot of horses, for which Mr. Gehard had paid $300,000, were sold for $100,000.

I have a few shares of stock of the United Butchers' Supply Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and doing a daily cash business. This stock will pay dividends of more than 10 per cent on every dollar you invest in it. The corporation owns and controls valuable patents, reason it is placing this stock on the market is to increase the factory space and present capacity. The above is practically a monopoly with no competition.

In a very short while this stock should be worth a great deal more than its par value. It is now selling at $10 per share.

This is not a risk. It is a sure thing. This business has brought four years and has brought a larger increase in its present capacity. Full information and circular from EDWARD MORRISON, Attorney, 201 Devonshire street, Boston, Mass.

BIG ENTERING CLASS

At Opening of State Normal School Yesterday

Unusually Large Number of Pupils From New Hampshire This Year — School Opens Seven Additional Training School Rooms

The State Normal school opened its season yesterday with the largest entering class in its history, the latter numbering 35 pupils while the senior class numbers 75. Within the coming week eight to ten additional pupils are expected. A large majority of the pupils are from out of town and this year there is an unusually large number of pupils from the state of New Hampshire, coming from Nashua and the towns of lower New Hampshire. While these pupils are obliged to pay tuition they prefer to do so and attend school near home, the New Hampshire Normal schools being at Keene and Plymouth, a greater distance away.

REV. FR. TIGHE Meets Members of the Holy Name Society

A very largely attended meeting of the Holy Name society of the Immaculate Conception parish was held at the school hall last evening. I., the spiritual director and the new pastor of the church, expressed his pleasure and his thanks for the fine showing made. He spoke informally to them and assured them that whatever he could do, would be done for the advancement of the society. He promised them that they can always rely on the assistance and aid of the pastor and curates of the Immaculate Conception parish in whatever they undertake for the promotion

True Bill Found Against George Genakos of This City

Who Shot and Killed Aristides Georgeopoulis in Suffolk St.—John F. Costello Indicted for Manslaughter—The Grand Jury Made Its Report Today

Lowell has another murder case on its hands for this morning, the grand jury returned an indictment against George Genakos for the murder of Aristides Georgeopoulis. During an altercation in Suffolk street four weeks ago Genakos shot and killed Georgeopoulis. He was arrested afterward and through his counsel, D. J. Donahue, pleaded not guilty and setting up the claim of self-defence. The government made the claim of premeditation. As this is a capital offence the trial will take place before two justices and will be specially assigned while a special jury will be empanelled to consider the evidence.

The grand jury made its report at the court house in Gorham street this forenoon with Judge Raymond on the bench and Clerk Ralph Smith also in attendance. It was Judge Raymond's first appearance at a Middlesex county court and it was also unusual for Clerk Smith to attend a criminal session. His presence being due to the illness of John A. Ambrose, who looks after the criminal sessions. Through his experience in all the departments of the court Mr. Smith is called upon to substitute for County Clerk Theodore Hurd in the supreme court when that official is away and for Clerk Ambrose in the criminal court.

The grand jury returned an indictment against John F. Costello, the well known barber for manslaughter in causing the death of Henry E. White in Central street. Costello, who claimed that White had insulted his wife, struck White in the face, knocking him down. As he fell, White's head struck a projection causing a fracture of the skull from which he died.

Lewis Ballkose and Arthur Duchesne were indicted for rape in separate cases.

Joseph J. Johnson was indicted for breaking and entering in the nighttime the store of Michael McDermott and larceny.

Antoine Carrell, alias, was indicted on eight counts of larceny from the Massachusetts mills, and from Mrs. Dora M. Gauthier and Mrs. Nellie Murphy. A search of Carrell's rooms revealed a wholesale quantity of plunder.

Charles J. Hebert was indicted for breaking and entering in the nighttime the store of Mizael J. Jodoin, and larceny, therefrom of money. Hebert pleaded guilty, but all other defendants pleaded not guilty.

Upon making its report the grand jury adjourned to Cambridge, where it came in at 2 o'clock with its report for the lower end of the county, which this term is unusually large.

The regular session of the criminal court will come in at Lowell on Monday with Judge Raymond on the bench.

COLUMBUS DAY

Committee is Planning Extensive Observance

The Columbus Day committee of the Knights of Columbus met last evening to consider further the plans for the observance of Columbus Day, Oct. 12.

Prof. Hugh J. Molloy presided and there was a full attendance of the committee. As yet nothing definite has been decided upon as a part of the program necessitates the sanction of civic authorities. The committee desires to have exercises held in all the schools on the day before the holiday, similar to those held on the 100th anniversary of the discovery of America and they also desire a chorus of all the school children hold in the open on the holiday. For their own observance the Knights will attend mass in the morning to which all the Catholic and church societies will be invited, and in the evening a banquet will be held for members and their lady friends in Association hall.

A meeting of the representatives of the Catholic societies will be held at the Knights of Columbus rooms on Sunday, Sept. 18, to make further plans.

LOSS IS $500,000

Car Ferry Sank in Lake Michigan Today and Many Lives Were Lost

LUDINGTON, Mich., Sept. 9.—One of the worst disasters in the history of Lake Michigan navigation occurred today when the car ferry number 13, flagship, of a fleet of six steel car ferries owned and operated by the Pere Marquette Railroad company sank to the bottom of Lake Michigan 20 miles off Port Washington, Wis., with a loss of 20 lives. The boat was valued at $400,000 and the cargo, which included 20 loaded cars at from $100,000 to $150,000. The total loss will exceed half a million dollars, which is fully insured in Lloyd's of England.

"Car ferry number 13 sinking—help" was the C. G. D. wireless message that brought the first news of the disaster to this city about five o'clock this morning. The dash was repeated continuously for nearly an hour, but was unheeded. At 11 a. m. Supt. Mercereux of the Pere Marquette car ferry line received a wireless from car ferry number 17 stating that number 13 sank at 7 o'clock after all on board had been rescued by lifeboats from number 17.

The lost car ferry carried a crew of 50 and had on board two lady passengers said to be from Saginaw.

At this hour the cause of the accident is unknown and the facts will not be available until number 17 arrives here late this afternoon.

Marine men are utterly at a loss to account for the disaster.

Number 13 was one of the finest and most costly car ferries ever built on the Great Lakes and only yesterday the craft was inspected by government officials at this port and found to be in first class condition. This was her first trip on her regular run after returning from Chicago where the big car ferry was under charter to the Chicago Navigation company, because of the excursion business between Chicago and Waukegan during most of July and August.

WAS PRONOUNCED SEAWORTHY
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 9.—It is said here that the ferry was in the middle of Lake Michigan when her signals of distress were received at Ludington at about five a. m. Car ferry 17 was immediately despatched to the assistance of her sister steamer and reached her side at 7 o'clock. A railroad statement says that steamer 18 had just been at Ludington undergoing the annual government inspection and had been pronounced entirely seaworthy by the inspectors.

The lost vessel was one of a fleet of six steel car ferries owned and operated on Lake Michigan by the Pere Marquette road. She was 238 feet long, 56 feet beam and 25 feet deep. Her gross tonnage was 2500 and her tonnage 1727.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 9.—In the deciding match for the golf championship of Rhode Island, H. E. Kenworthy of the Metacomb club and R. B. Jones of the Wannamoissett met today on the links of the Wannamoissett Country club. Both had proved their superiority over 44 contestants. Jones was a newcomer as a finalist while Kenworthy was in the final match for the third time, having been runner up in 1905 and 1909. CHESTER, Sept. 9.—Traffic on the main line of the Boston & Albany division of the New York Central railroad was tied up for several hours today by the derailment three miles east of here of four freight cars filled with hogs.

The roadbed for quite a distance was torn up, and both tracks were blocked. No one was hurt, but one of the trainmen, after listening to the grunts and squeals of the hogs, said that some of the animals were suffering from nervous shock.

Passengers were transferred around the scene; the wreck, east bound and a west bound travelers exchanging trains.

The east bound twentieth century limited from Chicago for Boston was sent over the North Adams branch at Pittsfield and reached Springfield over the Boston & Maine tracks by way of North Adams and Greenfield.

A broken wheel on one of the freight cars caused the derailment.

PHYSICAL TEST

For Students of Technical Schools

PITTSBURG, Sept. 9.—Students in the Carnegie technical schools hereafter must come up to a standard physical test or quit the school, according to an announcement describing the workings of a department of health that has been added to the curriculum.

Every freshman entering the school will be compelled to undergo a thorough examination, both physical and mental. Tests of the blood, circulation and measurements, which deal with the vital co-efficients, will be noted. At the end of the year, if it is found that the vital co-efficient is not responding as it should and it is ascertained that the fault is with the student he will be dismissed from the institution on the ground that he is not co-operating with the school to bring about a condition beneficial to both. The activities of a man can be tested by instruments, says Dr. Savage, who believes that he has perfected the means by which a man's ability can be measured. Dr. Watson Savage, physical director of the Pittsburgh Athletic association, will head the new department, and will be assisted by J. Howard McCullough, formerly of the Springfield Training school, and several physicians who will make their examinations and deliver lectures.

Roosevelt

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A man about 55 years old, giving the name of W. W. Burnham and having the appearance of a cowboy, gave the house detective and police on duty at the Hamilton club banquet in the gold room of the Congress hotel last night some anxiety by his endeavors to see "my friend Teddy."

"I am a pal of Seth Bullock," he told Clerk Ernest Reul, "and must have my friend's card, now bent it boys."

On the card was written W. W. Burnham and underneath he had scrawled "Just one minute, Teddy." The card was taken to Secretary Norton and Mr. Burnham got no nearer than that.

"Plain bug," said the clerk, "but may be he did know the colonel at that."

AVIATION MEET

PRESIDENT TAFT

SKETCHED BY THE SUN ARTIST AT ATLANTIC YESTERDAY

PERSPECTIVE VIEW OF THE AVIATION FIELD AT ATLANTIC AS SEEN FROM THE MARSHES WHERE THOUSANDS ASSEMBLED TO WATCH THE FLIGHTS. BROOKINS IS SEEN HIGH IN THE AIR AND CURTISS AND WHITE FLYING LOW.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston Makes Flight With Grahame-White

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—Appointed by the president of the United States and cheered by 25,000 people, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, as Grahame-White's passenger, made a spectacular flight three times around the Squantum aviation field yesterday afternoon.

As the Farman biplane with the city's chief dignitary aboard swooped and circled over the heads of the great crowds President Taft waved his hand in answer.

The mayor, never for a moment losing his delighted smile, with the greatest self-possession answered the friendly waves of encouragement by waving his handkerchief and then his hat.

After he had alighted safely—to the intense relief of those who watched him, breath-bated at his daring—he stepped from the machine, which Grahame-White had wheeled to a stop directly in front of the president's chair, and received the congratulations of President Taft.

The crowds went wild. In the bandstand the musicians were working their hardest to sound out "Sweet Adeline," but could not be heard above the clamor of the crowd.

While everyone was yelling louder than ever before the mayor and Grahame-White, who carried off the honors for another day of the great meet, chatted with the president. Seconded by the mayor, Grahame-White invited the president to trust himself in the machine for a short spin.

The courteous offer of the English aviator was naturally declined. Mrs. Taft seemed almost willing, but looked to the president to learn that he would be too worried.

The president had earlier in the afternoon put a check on Charley Taft's aspirations to fly.

Charley was on the field several hours ahead of his father and he was about to step into a biplane when the president drove up and placed a fatherly veto on the effort.

"But it is perfectly safe," said Grahame-White, when he was introduced and started to add his plea to that of the boy at his side.

To entertain the distinguished guests, the aviators put their machines through the best paces. All the time the president remained on the grounds, seated in the trolley of his big auto, some one of the birdmen circled and hovered in the blue, and at times four of them at once swooped and soared, to the unrestrained delight of the president.

Just before the president and his party left, Brookins, who had been climbing into the clouds for altitude, treated President Taft to one of the spectacular volplane descents.

He had been climbing for nearly an hour, and had reached an altitude above the lower strata of clouds. Then he commenced to descend, not in a widening spiral, but in sharp, hair-raising swoops.

Shoots Down Like Shot

The little speck started down tilted sharply, coasting at an angle of 45 degrees. For a couple of hundred feet it shot at terrific speed that made the speck grow rapidly big.

Suddenly the dark speck flashed bright as the machine banked, checking the wild downward swoop with a complete circle.

Again it started down, again gathering speed.

The sight was breathless. The biplane, travelling at the speed of the motor, and with the acceleration of gravity, shot down, down, down, faster and faster, and then brought up with a complete circle that couldn't have taken more than two seconds.

After the second circle, at the end of the second wild ride down from the clouds, the plane bulked larger in the sky. Even Brookins, in the seat, could be distinguished, a little dot between the planes.

In the third swoop the daring of the descent could be readily appreciated. The machine tilted down. It raced rapidly into clearer view till one could almost imagine the whistle of the cleaved air. Down it came, the increasing speed easily noticeable. Then, when it had attained its greatest velocity, it brought up with that breath-catching whirl, standing through the curve on its very beam ends.

Catching its equilibrium again, it swooped on the last lap down. This time the sharp descent swung into a graceful swoop and at about 100 feet above the ground the machine soared about, wheeling and circling in graceful flight.

From the height it had taken nearly an hour to reach, he had dropped in four volplanes, in a couple of minutes, scarcely more than a long breath.

Flight Delights Taft

General Nelson A. Miles, chatting with the president, had just described a flight he had seen Brookins make at Sheephead. Even while the general talked, Brookins was acting it all out to the delight of President Taft.

Up he climbed, flashing light from the silvered airplane, up and up.

As he circled in the spiral ascent he whirled through a low lying cloud. The machine dimmed, like the print of a photographic plate that has been taken out of focus.

The machine blurred more and more. For a second it ran into a thicker spot and disappeared.

Now and again a gleam from the aluminum blades flashed through the thin cloud. Then, like a silver bird, it flashed completely into view, glinting sunlight.

The president lay back in the seat of the trolley and followed the manbird with his eye, while General Miles told of the flight that he had witnessed.

While Brookins was holding attention by his climbing, Grahame-White took his monoplane into the sky for a try at altitude. He remained up but a short while and climbed only high enough to make second place in the altitude contest for the day.

TY COBB MUST REST

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—The oculist to whom Ty Cobb submitted his inflamed eye to examination has issued an official statement in which he says:

"Ty Cobb is being treated by me for eczema of the right eye. This condition is serious as it is an inflammation of one of the most important structures of the eye. The binocular vision is seriously affected. The treatment demanded in his case necessitates the relaxation of the focusing apparatus of the eye. I have advised him to stay out of the game for several days at least. I feel sure that no permanent injury to his sight will result from this inflammation providing that he now takes a stitch in time by way of complete rest."

MINERS LOST $12,000,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The strike of 44,000 coal miners in Illinois, which was settled yesterday, it is estimated cost the miners $12,000,000 in wages. The loss to the operators during the five months shutdown is placed at 50,000,000 tons and the shortage this year due to the strike in the neighborhood of 20,000,000 tons.

ASIATIC CHOLERA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The ravages of Asiatic cholera in Russia, Germany and Italy and the possibility of plague being brought to this country by infected immigrants has alarmed the public health and marine-hospital service. THE CHARTER OAK

Big Prize Was Captured By General H.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 9.—Before the largest crowd that has seen the Grand Circuit horses this season, General H., from far-away Calgary, out-raced a good field in the $10,000 Charter Oak stake yesterday in 2:08 3/4, 2:08 3/4, 2:09. The Canadian stallion never was in serious trouble, but the finishes were close enough to enthrall the spectators, who were lined a quarter of a mile on both sides of the homestretch besides filling grandstand and bleachers.

Uphian did not make his scheduled attempt to lower the wagon record, as the track was slow, being very damp under the top coating. This was disappointing to the crowd; but the racing sent every one away satisfied for, although the four events were settled in straight heats, the sport as about the most interesting that has been seen so far this season.

An upship shared honors with the horses, Frank Coffyn in a Wright monoplane making three very interesting flights. The machine was in the air within a few seconds of 15 minutes on each trial, flying over the infield in every direction, and at one time it reached an altitude of 500 feet.

The Charter Oak drew a field of 11 to the post, where first one bid actor and then another made 10 scores necessary. The 4-year-old Soprano was at the pole, with General H., fourth and Gamar on the outside. The Hoosier pony has been very sick and appeared so drawn that opinion as to his chance of winning changed, sending the horse from the northwest away favorite, and was finally nosed out for second place by Blinval.

Gamar made a splendid try for the prize the next heat, taking the pole going away and keeping it, but when it came to the test in the last few strides he was too weak to stall off the General.

Ario Leyburn and Demares raced side by side clear into the stretch in the third mile, only to die away, leaving the battle to more valiant racers. The finish was one of the best of the year. General H. just barely getting home in front of Soprano, who was danked by Alice Roosevelt, Gamar and Blinval, the going being so close that opinion was divided as to how the judges would place the horses.

General H. is owned by W. M. Parlow of Calgary. "Alberta," and "Parlow" from the family of Electioneer. This

FAVORITES LOSE

BELVASIA EASILY WINS HER RACE AT HILLSGROVE

HILLSGROVE, R. I., Sept. 9.—Favorites fared very badly in two of yesterday's races. Belvasia, the stout daughter of Bingala, that won Wednesday in the 2:23 trot and broke the track record, won the 2:19 trot yesterday, with Velzora at her wheel in every mile. Belvasia was never extended to the limit, and could have gone at least two seconds faster.

The 2:13 pace scheduled for today did not fill, and a free-for-all was put on in place of it. Red Bow was made a top-heavy favorite, but was very bad, finishing third in the first heat and being shut out in the second. He would not stay on his feet. Caffeno, neglected in the betting, won this race in four heats, surprising the talent.

Another dark horse, County Beater, captured the 2:19 pace in straight heats. The favorite, Short Order, landed second in the first two heats and third in the last.

After the 2nd heat the judges took down Hayden, driver of Short Order, and asked Merrifield, driver of Caffeno, to take the horse. Hayden, however, went into the stand and convinced the judges that he was driving to win, so he was again given permission to drive before the heat was run off.

County Beater was acting very badly, and would not turn after a score. It was only Van Houten's superb horsemanship that landed him in first place in three heats.

RACED IN THE DARK
WORCESTER, Sept. 9.—Racing until it was so dark as to make it almost impossible for the judges to read the numbers, the card at the New England

fair was completed yesterday afternoon. An accident in the running race caused a big sensation, but proved to be nothing serious. John McNamee, riding Veruna in the half mile race, lost control of his horse and the animal ran half way round the track and then threw the rider. McNamee was unconscious for more than an hour and was taken to the City hospital, where his injuries were found to be slight. The horse ran out of the fair grounds and into the woods, but was captured and ran in the heat, which had been held up. The racing on the regular card was not exciting, and, with one exception, the events were decided in straight heats. Allen Wilson, 2:02 1/4, the famous pacing mare that took the Readville handicap this year, driven by Coakley, her owner, went against the track record of 2:07 1/2 yesterday, but failed in two attempts to lower the mark. Her time for both heats was 2:10 1/4. In the last mile, after a break, she finished the last quarter in 31s.

Better the Grade, Bigger the Trade

This old axiom is certainly well applied to our business. We started business years ago with the policy of keeping our stocks of the highest grade. We know it is far better to sell the best goods and make a fair profit than to sell inferior goods and make a big profit.

PORT MONROE, Va., Sept. 9.—Another of those tragedies which go to show that the sailor offers his life to his country in time of peace as well as in war, was enacted yesterday on the dreadnought North Dakota, when about 12 miles from Old Point, in lower Chesapeake bay, an explosion of fuel oil and the ensuing fire cost the lives of three men and more or less serious injuries to nine others, including Lieut. Com. Orin G. Murfin.

The accident happened far from any shore, and for several hours the wildest rumors circulated through the communities; that having widest circulation being to the effect that the Delaware, sister ship of the North Dakota, had been blown up.

Admiral Schroeder's Report

Rear Admiral Seaton Schroeder, commanding the Atlantic fleet, late yesterday made the following statement of the accident:

"Between 10.30 and 11 o'clock this morning oil from room No. 3 in the North Dakota caught fire while the first squadron of the Atlantic fleet was making passage from the southern drill grounds to Hampton Roads.

Under request from the commander of the North Dakota, the commander-in-chief of the fleet immediately ordered the North Dakota to leave the fleet formation and the battleship New Hampshire put near to render assistance in case it could be of service.

"No assistance was necessary, and by 11.30 o'clock the fire on the North Dakota was under control.

"It has not yet been ascertained how the fire started, although it is believed that the disaster was not due to any carelessness of the men on the North Dakota. A board of inquiry was named to investigate the accident, consisting of Capt. C. A. Core of the Delaware, senior officer; Lieut. Commander C. V. Price of the Delaware and Lieut. Commander A. M. Proctor of the Connecticut. This board will thoroughly look into the cause of the explosion."

Three Killed Outright

After naming the dead and injured, stating that the three who were dead were "killed outright," Admiral Schroeder added:

"The injured men are all expected to recover. Lieut. Commander Orin G. Murfin was in the fire room at the time of the accident and was burned, but not seriously.

"The commander-in-chief immediately upon the anchoring of the squadron proceeded on the supply tender Yankton to the North Dakota to personally attend the operations. The fire was completely under control before he arrived, and after ascertaining as many facts as possible, he returned to the Connecticut in Hampton Roads.

"The North Dakota, shortly after the accident, anchored off Thimble shoal lighthouse. The wounded men, who are severely but not seriously burned, were removed from the North Dakota to the hospital ship Solace and are receiving the best medical attention."

Admiral Schroeder's report added that the fuel oil caught apparently near the settling tank. Oil fuel was being used for test at the time only on boiler No. 1.

The settling tank is part of a double-bottomed compartment in which the fuel oil is carried in bulk.

Fire on Ship in May Last

In each fire room are two 250-gallon tanks into which the oil is pumped to be settled, it is then pumped into the fire.

The North Dakota had a fire once before since she was launched in November, 1907. That was on May 13 last at the Boston navy yard, when a red-hot rivet dropped into ground cork in one of the after magazines, while the ship was in dry dock. The prompt response of her men to the ship's fire call resulted in quick extinguishment, and averted a threatened calamity.

The North Dakota's magazines are lined with cork, sheathed inside.

Capt. Albert Gleaves, who commands the North Dakota, is a Tennessean, who formerly commanded the St. Louis, and was until recently naval aide to Asst. Sec. Winthrop of the navy department. He has had 37 years of naval service, including 19 years at sea.

The North Dakota is a first-class battleship and was launched from the yard of the Fore River shipbuilding company Nov. 10, 1908. She has a length over all of 518 feet 9 inches and a displacement of 20,000 tons, 2000 tons in excess of the original British Dreadnought.

She carries 24 guns and has engines of 25,000 horse power. It was estimated that when formally taken over by the government from the builders the North Dakota cost at least $7,000,000, the contract price of her hull and machinery alone being $4,377,000.

His hoop rolled between the wheels of Orr's wagon, which was moving along slowly. The boy tried to get the hoop, tripped and fell under the wheels. He was taken to the City hospital. He sustained a fracture of the skull.

At midnight at the hospital it was reported that the injured boy was just coming out of the ether after an operation which it was found necessary to perform in an effort to save his life.

me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.Col. Roosevelt is out of his element in criticizing the decisions of the supreme court of the United States. In doing so he strikes at the foundation of law and order which is based on popular respect for the law and the courts of justice.

DOESN'T LIKE ROOSEVELT'S NEW IDEA

President Taft is not in line with Roosevelt's new nationalism. He says it is best to hold to the limitations of the constitution which makes sacred the rights of the states. He is not so much in favor of federal control as is Roosevelt who wants federal supervision of affairs that properly belong to the sovereign states.

TO REDEEM THE FIFTH DISTRICT

As we have already pointed out, there are unmistakable indications of an approaching democratic landslide throughout the country.The question with the democrats hereabout is whether the Fifth district will awake from its lethargy, or whether it will continue to be represented in congress by a republican whose vote and influence is usually cast in the interests of the trusts and plutocrats that rule this country and even control congress.There will be a splendid opportunity to redeem the Fifth district in the coming election. If the democrats put up a strong candidate he can undoubtedly be elected. If they put up a weak candidate he will just as surely be defeated. If the party makes a mistake at the primaries, then it is useless to hope for victory. Mr. Ames wants a weak candidate as an opponent as he will then have little to fear. With the right kind of a candidate there is no reason why he cannot be defeated.The democratic party at the present time has a strong platform to stand upon, and strong charges to make against the republicans as a party.We have had no democratic representative in this district since Cleveland's day when Moses T. Stevens was the representative from the Fifth district. Mr. Stevens was elected on the democratic tidal wave, and a good man can be similarly elected to congress this fall if the democrats will only do their duty.

SEND ABLE MEN TO THE SCHOOL BOARD

Let us then, let us thus early remark that it would be well for the democrats of this city, who are gerrymandered into a minority, to send a few of their very best men to the school board.It is fresh in the minds of our citizens how one of the most radical changes put through by the school board in years was engineered by a few republicans and clinched almost before the democrats awoke to what was going on.If there had been even one vigorous kicker among the democrats no such underhand work would have been attempted.The training school which for years had been regarded as the cornerstone of the merit system in the election of teachers was abolished and nine grammar masters were chosen as supervisors with the sole power of selecting the teachers who shall work under them.There is another provision, to wit, that no teacher is eligible for employment in the schools of Lowell unless she has had successful practice of at least one year outside Lowell. Practice in Lowell will not count. But if a teacher can secure a position in the schools of Dracut, Methuen, Dunstable or Frogtown and complete a year's work in a manner that will satisfy the farmers and "seelekmen" then she is eligible for high honors in the schools of Lowell.Now what does all this mean but a bar against the employment of Lowell girls in the local schools? They must have had experience elsewhere, and that means that they must come recommended by the school or other officials of some city or town.

What does such a recommendation amount to?

The teacher must be very delinquent and unpopular who cannot get a good recommendation on leaving a country school. If she be diplomatic she can be very gracious towards the committee which, when the time comes, may give her a "boost." She can tell the farmers that their children are very bright and destined for great careers. That will make her popular for all time with the farmers so complimented.The fact is, that under the present rule of the school board any teacher who has taught a year outside Lowell, provided she be well recommended, can find a place in the schools of Lowell whether her actual qualifications be as represented or not.It has often been the case that the worst teacher in such cases can procure the best testimonials, a fact that proves beyond a doubt that the rule adopted by the school board is not a safe one by any means. Nor do we believe that a visit by one of the supervisors to the teacher's home followed by a personal interview will enable him to pass upon her merits as a teacher.The only way in which a teacher can be properly tested is by work in the class room under skilled supervision.The school board would have shown better judgment if it had provided for the appointment of Normal school graduates on probation, and required them to rotate among the schools, the grammar masters to pass upon the work of all the probation teachers in their respective schools. In this way the average of the supervisory reports for each probationary teacher should fix her standard, provided all worked as nearly as possible under like conditions.The school board, for some reason, left three grammar masters out of the list of supervisors, although as a successful principal at least one of those omitted has no superior in Lowell.It is to rectify whatever is wrong in this rule and to prevent any such counter-jumping tactics in the future that we would urge upon the democrats the necessity of sending their ablest men to the school board.

SEEN AND HEARD

F. Hopkinson Smith, painter, author, engineer and professional optimist, tells a story showing that Boston boys of the street are like all others. He overheard a conversation between two youngsters selling newspapers."Say, Harry, what's the best way to teach a girl how to swim?" asked the younger one.
"That's a cinch. First off you puts your left arm under her waist and you gently takes her left hand."
"Come off! she's me sister."
"Aw, push her off de dock."The other day a family were sending their furniture to storage, and one of the energetic members of the household labeled in enormous black painted letters each burlapped article. As the wagon went down the street the crate on the tailboard loudly proclaimed
"Ethel's Washstand" in letters fully a foot high.A negro, very fat and well along in years, sauntered into the lobby of a Broadway theatre the other day and asked for the manager."What can I do for you, mammy?"
asked the manager."I want a ticket into the gallery,"
"Yes," she replied calmly."But why should I give you a ticket?"

"Cos I'm a retired actress."

"You? What did you do?" inquired the other in amusement.

"I played in 'Antony and Cleopatra.'"

I was fan bearer for Miss Fanny Davenport."

She got her ticket.

Thomas F. Garvey, chairman of the West Centralville Improvement association, was one of many to welcome the first car over the new line in West Centralville, and, in a communication to The Sun, Mr. Garvey remarks that after a long struggle it looks as if West Centralville is coming into her own. Mr. Garvey, as a proud father, states, and with genuine pride, that when the Greenhagen school opens, six of his children will attend that school.
The children are: Margaret May Garvey, 13 years old, 9th grade; Thomas M., 12, 8th grade; Harold J., 10, 6th grade; Raymond F., 8, 4th grade; John H., 7, 2nd grade; George S., 5, 1st grade.With this splendid array of children it is little wonder that Mr. Garvey would be enthusiastically interested in the development of the section in which he lives.Speaking of laughable legal cases, some time since a prominent lawyer told of the proceedings for failure to renew his dog license against a man who lives in a small town.The man, according to the lawyer, owned a fine collie. When he failed to renew the license, the appointed time charges were made against him by the proper authority, and he was taken into a magistrate's court. Finally the magistrate turned to him."Do you wish it understood," said he, "that you refuse to renew your dog license?"

"Yes," answered the defendant.

"But,"

"But don't go in this court," broke in the magistrate. "You must renew your dog license or be fined.
It expired nearly two months ago.""So did the dog," was the startling rejoinder of the defendant. "Do I have to renew him, too?"A delightful impromptu musical was held at the studio of Mr. Louis Grunwald, Jr. in Central street a few evenings ago at which the talent consisted of Messrs. John and Chris. Hagan, Mr.
William Mallinson, Mr. Grunwald and a few other congenial spirits. Mr. John Hagan and Mr. Mallinson are from Southbridge, Mass. and were on a periodical visit to Mr. Hagan's brother, Chris. In the old days when both brothers were residents of Lowell theyNEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY
For All Skin TroublesA chemist who was convinced that the old method of taking internal remedies to cure skin diseases was erroneous, has discovered that an extract from a particular part of a well-known tree possessed antiseptic and curative properties on the skin tissues. It was, however, found that this valuable vegetable extract was difficult to compound with other ingredients necessary to present it in a form convenient to use. After further investigations and experiments a method of special treatment was devised, resulting in a combination of ingredients possessing to a marked degree valuable therapeutic properties, the like of which has never before been produced. This important product is known as Cadum. Since its introduction Cadum has cured many cases of chronic eczema and other unpleasant, irritating, and distressing skin diseases, and this after other treatments have failed. Cadum stops the terrible itching of eczema at once, and begins the healing process with the first application. Its action is still more remarkable in less serious skin troubles, such as hives, pimples, blotches, tetter, itch, acne, herpes, scaly skin, psoriasis, ringworm, rash, chafes,
eruptions, sores, itching piles, scurvy, backheads, scabs, etc. Many of the results effected by Cadum may be truly called remarkable. It destroys disease-producing germs, allays inflammation, and is soothing and healing to the skin.

PROTEST MADE

AGAINST THE EXILE GOVERNING
TEXTILE IMPORTSWASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Modifications of the customs regulations on textile imports from Europe were partially drafted from a conference at the treasury department yesterday.
When complete the proposed changes will be sent to Sec. MacVeagh at Dublin, N. J., for his attention. If he approves the amended ruling he will probably recommend it to the state department.While the full impact of the modifications did not become known, there is authority that all the points of objection which were raised by the English and French importers were taken up and, it is believed, their objections met, although the principle of requiring type samples on all standard textiles to be deposited at American consulates and ports of entry is rigidly adhered to.Ambassador Jusserand has received cables from the French foreign office to take the question up with the state department. Ambassador Bryce apparently was satisfied that the outcome of the controversy would be satisfactory to British interests, for he left the country recently for an extended visit in South America.The conference yesterday with Asst.
Sec. Charles D. Miller was attended by experts of the customs division and representatives of the general board of appraisers of New York.

evolution, as it were, out of the necessities and needs of modern conditions and cities. To this result many good people have contributed—many who do not get half the credit to which they are entitled. It does follow, however, that in the final analysis a juvenile court in one city may be an entirelydifferent thing from a juvenile court in another city. Conditions differ, and the method of work must in a measure differ. But, after all, any juvenile court is largely the judge and the officers who constitute it. The most important thing is the work; that character of personal work that, regardless of statutes and laws, is necessary to get results. This no man founded or ever can found. It must come from the hearts of those who are equipped by natural temperament, which, of course, may be greatly aided by experience,
work and education.I have always included and insist now that the public has been all too generous in giving certain men credit for the children's court and what it has done.
This sort of generosity has been very encouraging whether it is deserved or not, but nevertheless I have repeatedly sought to correct the conferring of titles which do not belong to me having felt even more embarrassed at being credited with things to which I am not entitled than in being denied the credit of something to which I might be entitled.—Judge Lindsey in The Survey.

LATEST ATTACKS ROOSEVELT

Earle Says He Failed to Prosecute the Sugar Trust

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The World yesterday prints the first of a series of articles on Theodore Roosevelt and the supreme court by George H. Earle. As a preface to Mr. Earle's article the World tells of the case of the Pennsylvania Sugar company in which it charges Mr. Roosevelt, then president, failed to prosecute under the anti-trust law. The World states the case substantially as follows:

"The Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, independent, had been wrecked by a conspiracy of the sugar trust when George H. Earle, the Philadelphia lawyer and financier, was made its receiver. Mr. Earle gathered documentary evidence of that conspiracy, as well as proof of the sugar-trust frauds which the trust was perpetrating upon the United States customs, and communicated the facts by letter to President Roosevelt in the fall of 1905.

"He requested that a criminal prosecution should be brought against the men who had wrecked the independent refinery.

"The Knight case, which Mr. Roosevelt now condemns as a product of the 'fossilized minds' of the justices of the United States' supreme court, was raised by him and his attorney-general, Mr. Bonaparte, as an insurmountable bar to prosecution.

"Mr. Earle proceeded without the Roosevelt administration's assistance, in a civil suit under the Sherman law. Judge Holt dismissed his complaint. Mr. Earle appealed, and before the United States circuit court of appeals personally assisted his counsel in arguing the Knight case. The circuit court reversed Judge Holt and sent the receiver's suit back to the federal district court for trial. There, when the evidence of conspiracy—the same evidence which Mr. Earle says Roosevelt would not look at—had been presented, the trust confessed its guilt by settling for between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 damages.

"After Mr. Roosevelt went out of office, President Taft's attorney-general, Mr. Wickham, took the evidence which Receiver Earle had offered of the sugar trust, indicted, owing to the delay, some of them were able to plead the statute of limitations, but their fate is still in the hands of the courts."

ELEVEN INJURED

Trolley Car and Freight Train Collide

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—Eleven persons were injured by a head-on collision of a trolley car and a freight train near Ballard park, Rockport, yesterday afternoon. The accident was due to failure of the block signal.

Miss Lena Cleveland, of Camden, a teacher in the Rockland schools, who was near the front of the car, was cut on the ear by broken glass.

Maynard Ingraham and Miss Elita Acland, of Rockport, Mrs. E. B. Colcord of Rockland, Frank W. Savage of Bangor, Mrs. Freeman Chaplain, E. F. Heals, Susan Osler, Anna Osler, Bertha Osler, and Abbie Oliver of Damaria, were bruised and severely shaken. It is thought none is seriously hurt.

The injured were brought to Rockland and physicians placed at their disposal.

Motorman Dana Sherer had a narrow escape, leaping from his car just before its front was smashed in by the train.

The passenger car left Camden at 3 o'clock. A freight train was bound for the quarries in Rockport. Harvey Allen of Camden was conductor of the passenger car. When the Ballard park siding was reached no red light was displayed, and after finding the signal was not working Conductor Allen decided to go ahead.

Nearing a sharp curve Motorman Sherer caught sight of the approaching freight and applied the reverse. Ralph Blackington and John Pense jumped out with Sherer.

The freight train was under the charge of Motorman Frank Storer and Conductor Herman Hooke. That neither was injured was due to the fact that several empty rock cars were in advance of the freight car. These doubled like a jackknife.

Manager Hawkins said last night that no employees would be blamed.

Managers of the trolley and freight lines are now determining the guilt or innocence of Lee O'Neil Browne whose second trial on a charge of bribery of a fellow legislator in connection with the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate has just been completed, gave no intimation this morning of what would be their verdict. Apparently in preparation for a tedious review of all the evidence presented, the juryman early in the night sought the beds of the juryrooms on the fifth floor of the court building.

Judge Kersten will be in the courtroom all day to receive the verdict whenever a decision is reached. The jury in the first trial of Minority Leader Browne, was out 115 hours before disagreeing.

Violated Probationary Orders

Thomas J. Brown appeared in police court several weeks ago and was placed on probation on condition that he would stop drinking and support his family. Thomas failed to do this, however, and yesterday he was surrendered by Probation Officer Slatery.

In court this morning Brown was said that he was drunk last night and the night before and had worked but three days since the Fourth of July.

The court decided that it would be a good idea to make an example of people who do not appreciate probation and he ordered Brown to be sentenced to three months in jail. He appealed.

Social Gathering Interrupted

The home of Thomas Waldron at 453 Lakeview avenue was the scene of a lively gathering yesterday and last night.

Patrolmen John Sullivan and Conlon, accompanied by Agent Richardson of the Humane society, visited the place last night and they found several persons in a drunken condition.

In court this morning John Conlon was one who admitted that he had been drunk. The arresting officers said that Mrs. Waldron was very drunk, while her husband was staggering drunk and had been drunk since the night before.

Patrolman Sullivan said that he had found the guilty and ordered Waldron sentenced to two months in jail and his wife to 20 days at the same place. The other three escaped with fines of $2 each.

Fine of $30 Imposed

Arthur I. Merrier was arrested yesterday on a capias, having been surrendered by the probation officer because he had not carried out the orders of the court to pay his wife $3.50 per week for the support of their children. Merrier was ordered to pay a fine of $30, to be paid to the mother of the children.

Other Offenders

It looked as though Daniel Barrett, charged with drunkenness, was going to escape with a $5 fine, but when the court learned that the man was a visitor from Lincoln, N. H., a sentence to the state farm was ordered.

George J. Wilkins was in need of a rest and the court ordered him committed to jail for a term of eight days.

James N. Dana, George Piper, William Randon and William Dumas were fined $5 each, and two first offenders were fined $2 each.

Thomas J. Brown appeared in police court several weeks ago and was placed on probation on condition that he would stop drinking and support his family. Thomas failed to do this, however, and yesterday he was surrendered by Probation Officer Slatery.

In court this morning Brown was said that he was drunk last night and the night before and had worked but three days since the Fourth of July.

The court decided that it would be a good idea to make an example of people who do not appreciate probation and he ordered Brown to be sentenced to three months in jail. He appealed.

Social Gathering Interrupted

The home of Thomas Waldron at 453 Lakeview avenue was the scene of a lively gathering yesterday and last night.

Patrolmen John Sullivan and Conlon, accompanied by Agent Richardson of the Humane society, visited the place last night and they found several persons in a drunken condition.

In court this morning John Conlon was one who admitted that he had been drunk. The arresting officers said that Mrs. Waldron was very drunk, while her husband was staggering drunk and had been drunk since the night before.

Patrolman Sullivan said that he had found the guilty and ordered Waldron sentenced to two months in jail and his wife to 20 days at the same place. The other three escaped with fines of $2 each.

Fine of $30 Imposed

Arthur I. Merrier was arrested yesterday on a capias, having been surrendered by the probation officer because he had not carried out the orders of the court to pay his wife $3.50 per week for the support of their children. Merrier was ordered to pay a fine of $30, to be paid to the mother of the children.

Other Offenders

It looked as though Daniel Barrett, charged with drunkenness, was going to escape with a $5 fine, but when the court learned that the man was a visitor from Lincoln, N. H., a sentence to the state farm was ordered.

George J. Wilkins was in need of a rest and the court ordered him committed to jail for a term of eight days.

James N. Dana, George Piper, William Randon and William Dumas were fined $5 each, and two first offenders were fined $2 each.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Cases Were Heard Today

George Watson and Sumner Brown, two young men were given hearings before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on complaints charging them with drunkenness and assault and battery on Michael Nowacki early yesterday morning. Owing to the many witnesses summoned and also that some had to testify through an interpreter, the case proved to be a long-drawn-out affair.

The government contended that Watson and Brown assaulted Nowacki in Lakeview avenue near the corner of Bridge street, while on the other hand the defense put forward the claim that the marks on the complainant's face were caused by another person prior to the meeting with Brown and Watson.

Patrolman Michael Lennon testified that about 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning he was attracted to Lakeview avenue near the corner of Bridge street by a crowd of people running in that direction. Hurrying into Lakeview avenue he found a crowd of about 25 people in the street and forcing his way through the crowd he saw Michael Nowacki being held by two men. Nowacki had his hands to his head. Witness, he said, took hold of Nowacki to protect him when Sumner Brown drew off and struck Nowacki in the face. Brown was then hustled away by two of the people in the crowd.

A minute or so later, said Patrolman Lennon, Watson struck Nowacki a terrible blow in the face and then ran into a lunch car nearby.

Nowacki was taken to his home across the street and later witness, accompanied by Patrolman John Sullivan, placed Brown under arrest. When Brown was taken to the box, witness said, Patrolman Sullivan to go over to the lunch car and take Watson under arrest, which the patrolman did.

Patrolman Patrick Connolly said he was passing on an electric car when he saw the crowd. He got off the car and joined Patrolman Lennon. He did not see any blows struck, but later assisted Patrolman Sullivan in arresting Watson. Witness said that Watson was drunk when placed under arrest and staggered on the way from the lunch car to the patrol box.

Patrolman John Sullivan, who arrested Watson in the lunch car in Bridge street, said that Watson was drunk. He said that Brown was also drunk, although it would be difficult to say which was the worse of the two.

Michael Nowacki, with a badly discolored left eye, testified that he entered a lunch car in Bridge street about 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night. While in there he said he got into an altercation with another man. He with others later left the lunch car and he said that while he was walking through Bridge street he was assaulted by Brown and Watson.

On cross examination Nowacki denied that he had anything to drink that night, and that he was drunk.

One of Nowacki's countrymen was then called and he said he saw Brown and Watson strike Nowacki. Witness said that Nowacki was struck by some person prior to being assaulted by Brown and Watson. Later witness denied that he saw Nowacki assaulted by an unknown person.

The court after considering the evidence in the case found Brown and Watson guilty and gave each a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory on the charge of drunkenness and finding them guilty on the charge of assault and battery ordered each to pay a fine of $15 within one month.

SON OF MONROE MET PRESIDENT TO BEGIN WORK

To Wed at Age of 94 Years

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Sept. 9.—Maj. Edward James Monroe of Bridgeport and Jacksonville, Fla., who says he is a son of James Monroe, fifth president of the United States, announced his intention of marrying at the age of 94, having outlived three wives and 12 children and having survived three wars.

Maj. Monroe's assertion that he is a son of the famous president, during whose administration the Monroe doctrine was promulgated, is nothing new to his acquaintances in this city, in which he has been a summer resident for more than 60 seasons. He has never been called upon to prove his assertion, although no biography of James Monroe mentions the fact of his having had a son.

This apparent oversight on the part of the historians is due, says Maj. Monroe, to the fact that Hild was ever known to the personal life of his father. Maj. Monroe says he is a son by a second marriage, his mother's family name being Lauder. Here there is another seeming oversight by the historians, as only one marriage is mentioned in the biographies of President Monroe and that was to Miss Courtwright of New York.

Maj. Monroe says he was born in Richmond, Va., on July 4, 1816. Upon the death of his father in 1831, he says he passed into the hands of a guardian, by whom he was taken to South Africa, where he remained several years.

Returning to America before the outbreak of the civil war, he served as an artillery regiment from Richmond. After the war he served as a private in the French army during the Franco-Prussian war, and was wounded at the siege of Paris. Later he wandered about in many countries and finally entered the Boer army in the war with England, serving under Gen. Kruger and Gen. Devet. After this he returned to America, and has since lived in this country in relative obscurity. He says one of his sons is alive, but he does not know where he is.

"I am beginning to feel lonely," he declared, "and I think I will marry for the fourth time."

In proof of his assertion he exhibited a letter written in sentimental vein, in which the writer declared her willingness to become the wife of a man of such distinguished ancestry and attainments.

Maj. Monroe declares that he has never attempted to trade in any way upon his assertion that he is a son of President Monroe. Possessed of small but sufficient means, he prefers to live a simple, quiet life among a small circle of friends in Bridgeport and in Jacksonville, Fla., where he has a houseboat and a little farm.

Gov. A. J. Pothier of Rhode Island and J. L. Chalfoux of this city were received and cordially entertained yesterday afternoon by President Taft at his summer residence in Beverly, Mass.

Air. Chalfoux, accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Paul Chalfoux, were en route to the north shore. In the afternoon, while the ladies were making a social call in Beverly, the governor and Mr. Chalfoux motored to the summer capital. Upon entering the grounds they were met by the inevitable secret service man with his polite request as to who they were and what they desired within the exclusive precincts, and upon making known the fact that the governor of Rhode Island and friend desired to pay their respects to the president, they were ushered into the house and in a few minutes were in the presence of the chief executive, who bade them welcome and entertained them. Aside from the presence in the background of two military aids in uniform, the meeting was entirely informal and the guests came freely and delighted with the reception accorded them.

COL. ROOSEVELT CAR STRUCK DRAY

Refused to Sit at Same Table With Senator Lorimer

Passengers Had a Narrow Escape at Bradford

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt arrived in Chicago from Freeport, Ill., at 5.20 o'clock last evening. He was given a tumultuous greeting at the station and at the Congress hotel, where another great throng awaited him.

At the hotel he was the guest of honor at an elaborate banquet given by the members of the Hamilton club of Chicago at 6 o'clock. He was greeted by 1200 diners, among whom were several United States senators, governors of states and other notables. Hundreds of people unable to obtain seats at the banquet thronged the balcony of the gold room, in which Col. Roosevelt spoke.

Gov. Charles S. Deneen delivered an eulogistic address in welcoming Col. Roosevelt, and John H. Batten, president of the Hamilton club, introduced him. At the speakers' table were Joseph G. Cannon; Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president; Albert J. Beveridge; Senator Robert J. Gamble; James R. Garfield, former secretary of the interior; Governors Deneen, Stubbs and R. S. Vesey; Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Col. Roosevelt's son-in-law, while United States Senator J. C. Burrows and Walden Smith of Michigan were also near the speakers.

Members of the Hamilton club planned to make the banquet not only the one big event of the day in Chicago, but if possible of Col. Roosevelt's western trip.

The demand for seats was so great that the original plan to limit diners to 500 who could be seated was abandoned. It was then arranged to accommodate more than twice that number by using a second banquet hall.

When introduced by President Batten of the Hamilton club, Col. Roosevelt was greeted with tumultuous applause.

Following the banquet, Col. Roosevelt was escorted to a reception in the Elizabethan room of the Congress hotel which had been transferred into a representation of an African jungle. Col. Roosevelt was pleased with the decorative innovation.

Hundreds who had been unable to secure seats at the banquet board attended the reception which did not terminate until shortly before the Roosevelt party was ready to take the train for Cincinnati.

SENATOR LORIMER

WAS BARRED BY EX-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt yesterday barred Senator William Lorimer from the Hamilton club banquet at the Congress hotel by refusing to sit at the same table. The incident came unheralded. The program of the event announced that Senator Lorimer and others would sit at the speakers' table with Col. Roosevelt.

Politicians here and over the state were startled by the occurrence. The unprecedented demand that the Hamilton club deny to one of its own members the privilege of attending the banquet came with characteristic abruptness from Col. Roosevelt.

A Hamilton club delegation, headed by former Judge John H. Batten, joined Col. Roosevelt at the fair grounds in Freeport, Ill., shortly after noon. Immediately the colonel began questioning them concerning the banquet.

"Is Speaker Cannon to be there?" he asked.

"Yes," Mr. Batten replied. "He has accepted the invitation."

"Senator Lorimer?"

"Senator Lorimer is a member of the club," he was told, "and he has accepted an invitation."

"Then I must decline to go," said Col. Roosevelt, adding that he would feel the same about the presence of Senator Lorimer as he would sitting down with members of the Illinois legislature who are under indictment in the graft investigation.

The committee members looked their amazement and finally informed their guest that they would go back to Chicago and tell Senator Lorimer his views.

"Send him a telegram telling him that I will not attend the dinner tonight if he is there."

The delegation was perplexed. Their embarrassment apparently was not noticed by Mr. Roosevelt, who chatted with others while the pertinent delegates consulted.

The following telegram was drafted and despatched to Senator Lorimer:

"Colonel Roosevelt positively declines to sit at the same table with you. Our invitation to you for this evening is therefore withdrawn."

Judge John H. Batten signed the telegram.

On the street, in offices, in public buildings, the tidings caused much comment, but if Senator Lorimer was surprised at the refusal of Col. Roosevelt to sit at the banquet table with him, no indication of it escaped him. If he was displeased or hurt, no sign of such disquiet appeared, and he courteously declined to make any comment to newspapermen.

When the delegation of Hamilton club members reached the city the members were informed that Senator Lorimer would not attend the banquet. The comforting intelligence did not come officially, but was accepted as final. The delegation breathed a sigh of relief and the incident was closed.

HAVERHILL, Sept. 9.—One of the worst trolley accidents in this city for years narrowly escaped a serious fatality shortly after noon yesterday when the Boston & Northern car from South Groveland struck a heavy dray on Salem street, Bradford district.

The front of the electric car was smashed, a dray was broken into splinters, a telephone pole was broken off, wires were twisted into a tangled mass, a fire alarm box was shattered and the passengers on the electric car panicked.

They were only restrained from jumping from the car by the efforts of an unknown Episcopal clergyman from Kansas City, who went among them, calming the hysterical women and children.

The bravery of Motorman Fred Rogers alone avoided a tragedy, as he stuck to his post even when the front of the car was bent double and the controller emitting flash after flash of electricity.

Conductor Fred Boner swung along the side of the car and persuaded the passengers to remain in their seats, pleading with them and begging them to prevent a loss of life.

The accident occurred when the car was proceeding slowly on a down grade near the Island park road. The two-horse dray loaded with boxes came up the road, driven by Cornelius Cronin. The motorman yelled to the man to stop, but the dray passed on and although the motorman reversed his power, and brought the sand box into use, the car struck the dray as it was half way across the track.

The noise of the breaking wood mingled with the snorting of the frightened horses and the cries of the frenzied passengers. Above all was heard the pleadings of the clergyman, conductor and motorman. The horses attempted to run, but could not, as the dray was wedged against the car. The motorman shouted to the driver to jump from the dray, but Cronin stuck to the reins and attempted to urge the horses on faster, in an attempt to clear the trolley.

When the car struck, the dray was hurled back with terrific force, the rear end striking a telephone post, and the shaft was broken off. Fire alarm box 715, attached to the pole, was broken off and a network of wires fell rustling to the ground, enveloping the car.

As soon as they had recovered from their fright, the passengers, about 30 in number, left the car and an extra car brought them to the city proper.

When the car struck, the dray was hurled back with terrific force, the rear end striking a telephone post, and the shaft was broken off. Fire alarm box 715, attached to the pole, was broken off and a network of wires fell rustling to the ground, enveloping the car.

As soon as they had recovered from their fright, the passengers, about 30 in number, left the car and an extra car brought them to the city proper.

The 3rd Lockhart "Mill-End" Sale

We answer the question in public print, so frequently asked in our store today, WILL Mr. Lockhart be here tomorrow, certainly he will, we have it so arranged with him. The summing up of the opening of the Lockhart "Mill-End" sale today, shows such a marvelous gain over anything this store ever did at any previous sale, that our enthusiasm for this man and this sale is unbounded, the clap-trap productions, frothy impossibilities and mistakes of others in trying to imitate this man and this sale has not the slightest effect against the perfectly capable and very clever methods of the personally conducted Lockhart sale. Mr. Lockhart's vivacious talks to the crowds are worth coming to hear, the beauty and richness of his voice has been commented on by newspaper writers all over the country. This unusual man and this unusual sale are a rare treat and the two together have a ring of good taste and merit, that appeal to the great American people everywhere, and is a business imbued and backed by character and common sense. Tomorrow's business will be lively, it will be great, are you coming?

How Clancy Made the Home Run With Eaz-all

"Gee, but if it hadn't been for Eaz-all my feet would have given out and I could not have made that home run in the ninth."

Eaz-all gives healthy action to the pores of the skin, so there are no dandruff, sore feet when it is used. Ball players, golfers and all athletes find that Eaz-all keeps their feet in good condition. It is the only mentholated foot talcum, and hence has cooling properties unknown to other preparations. It does not clog the pores like powders; it takes out all smarting and burning; it cures corns, bunions and callouses, and reduces puffy, swollen feet, so that smaller shoes may be worn. Get a 25c box of Eaz-all from your druggist and have foot comfort.

WOMAN MAY LIVE

May be Saved by Man's Blood

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Blood from the arm of a robust young man was passed into the arm of a woman who lay at the point of death from acute anæmia at Mount Sinai Hospital on Monday night. The surgeons say the patient probably will recover.

Fannie Kirschen, a middle-aged woman, was admitted to the hospital in a serious condition. Several remedies were tried without success, and then a young man who was willing to give up a quart or so of blood was advertised for.

On Monday a dozen or more candidates appeared and one was selected to be in good physical condition was selected.

By a test called haemolysis, in which a specimen of the patient's blood was added to a small amount taken from the young man's right arm, it was found that so far as fusion went the operation would succeed. The woman and the man were placed under an anæsthetic side by side on operating tables. The radial artery in the man's wrist was connected with a vein in the woman's arm.

After the operation the man who had given up his blood was placed in bed and allowed to recuperate from the weakness and the nausea caused by the ether. He is all right now.

LOSS IS $2000

BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE AT CORNISH, N. H.

CORNISH, N. H., Sept. 9.—The barn and outbuildings on the W. D. Dow farm, near the centre of the town, were burned late Wednesday night, together with two cows, three hogs, a number of hens, 60 tons of hay, 20 tons of oat straw and farming tools. Three horses and seven cows were saved. There was a small insurance, but the loss will be about $2000. The barn was a large structure, 100 by 40, and situated across the road from the dwelling house.

Neighbors were summoned by telephone from all parts of the town and succeeded in saving the dwelling, after first removing nearly all the furniture. Mr. Dow cannot account for the fire, which broke out after he had gone to bed. His wife was about retiring when she heard the crackling of the flames.

TRUNKS HELD UP

Woman Failed to Declare Her Effects

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—Four trunks belonging to a woman passenger on the steamship Saxonian were held by the customs officials at the pier at East Boston yesterday pending an investigation by the appraisers department.

The inspection of the tons of personal baggage arriving on the liner gave the inspectors one of the busiest days in the history of the port, and the rigid search of the officials resulted in the holding of four trunks.

The baggage was the property of Mrs. Margaret Carter. In the examination of the trunks many articles of costly wearing apparel and trinkets not included in Mrs. Carter's declaration were reported by the inspector.

Mrs. Carter was asked to explain and given a chance to amend her declaration. Her replies to the questions of the inspectors did not prove satisfactory, and Deputy Surveyor Edgerly, in charge of the forces at the Cunard pier ordered the trunks held.

The inspectors reported that Mrs. Carter's answers to their inquiries were evasive. She gave three addresses, one being South Africa, the others Marblehead and Manchester. The trunks were sent to the appraiser's stores for further examination.

The customs men had a difficult task yesterday. Two great ocean liners, bringing 3245 passengers, arrived at the same hour in the morning, and the forces of the customs and immigration departments had to be divided.

There was necessarily delay, part of the inspectors going to Charlestown to look after the Canop's passengers and part going to East Boston to take care of the Saxonian.

The Saxonian, which arrived from Liverpool and Queenstown, brought 205 saloon and 220 second cabin passengers. The Canopie from Genoa, Naples and Ponta Delgada, brought 238 saloon and 185 second cabin. Some of the returning tourists brought with them but one trunk and hand baggage, but most had at least three trunks, and some brought 15 to 18 pieces of property. The 877 cabin passengers brought 3500 pieces of baggage.

Under the new regulations, a thorough search of every piece of baggage must be made. There were 50 inspectors to handle the work.

It was late last night when the last passenger was allowed to depart. The inspectors and surveyors rushed the work as rapidly as possible under the new regulations, while the passengers crowded around and bombarded them with remarks concerning "injustice," "outrage," "rights of American citizens" and other less kind expressions, and trains sped west without those who intended to leave for their homes in the state, beyond the Green mountains.

THE TARIFF BOARD

Will Plan for Revision of Schedule

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The tariff board will meet in Washington on Sept. 21 and lay the foundations for the beginning of a scientific investigation of the three most important schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law.

The now famous schedule "K," the woolen schedule, which has been both sharply attacked and strongly defended, will have first consideration. The cotton schedule and the metal schedule will follow in the order named. Two others may be added to the immediate task, if it is possible. What they will be is not determined. It is understood, however, that the board hopes to have at least five schedules thoroughly scrutinized during its first year's work, and it is said such a plan has been presented to President Taft's approval.

Whether the fact that the board is meeting in Washington the week that President Taft has called the cabinet to the White House for several days' work behind closed doors has any significance, no one here attempts to say. It is generally accepted as a fact, however, that another revision of the tariff to be made schedule by schedule as may be needed, will be one of the subjects discussed at the White House conference.

James B. Reynolds, the former assistant secretary of the treasury, who is now a member of the board and its expert on textiles, now is in Scotland on his way back to the United States, after several months' study in Germany. Prof. Henry C. Emery, the chairman, has been working since his return from Europe at his home in New England. Alvin H. Sanders, the third member, is in Chicago.

During the summer the board has been gathering its forces and engaging experts. The first work of the meeting will be a thorough organization.

VOYONS THEATRE

Shows Pictures on Clean and Unclean Milk

At the Voyons theatre this week is being shown a reel of very interesting pictures, illustrating how disease is spread from milk that is handled in a careless or unclean manner, showing first the dirty, slovenly, unsanitary conditions under which milk is produced in some places and then sold in big cities. Then comes the reform under which the cows are cleanly stalled, fed with wholesome feed and milked by men who have due regard for cleanliness. The men who handle the milk are dressed in immaculate white, and the milk is disposed of by mechanical methods without being touched by any human hand until it is delivered in sealed bottles to the consumer.

Of course there must be some definite plot to a story of this kind and accordingly the pictures represent an old farmer who is careless as to the condition of his cow barns, who does not keep his cattle clean, who does not feed them as they should be fed. His cows are milked with pails of rubbish and

To Stop Spread of Typhoid in the Highlands—Milk on Hand Sent Into Sewer—Blood Test of Employes Being Taken

At a special meeting of the board of health held last night at the office of the board chairman, Dr. C. Forrest Martin, a Lowell milk dealer was voted out of business. The board alleges that the milk distributed by this dealer is responsible for the typhoid fever now prevalent in this city. The board said that the man, after the board became cognizant of the fact that his milk was responsible for the typhoid, refused to do business under the proper and necessary precautions.

The board is taking and intends to take the most drastic measures to prevent a further spread of the dreaded typhoid. Besides being put out of business, temporarily, the dealer has been ordered to fumigate all buildings used in his milk business, to collect all bottles from his customers and sterilize them, to discharge his present help and hire new help for time being and to send his cows to some other place until all danger of contagion has passed.

Customers of the dealer in question awoke this morning to find themselves without the usual supply of milk at the door and it was but natural for them to suppose that the milk had been stolen. A little later, however, a man came around and told the milkless customers they would have to get milk elsewhere for the time being as he had had some trouble with the board of health.

In the course of its investigations the board found that one of the employes of the dealer had typhoid and the board will make blood tests of all who have had anything to do with the handling of milk at his place.

The dealer has a herd of 30 cows and besides the milk produced by these cows he takes from eight producers located in the surrounding towns. The board says it was through one of these producers that the dealer's milk became contaminated in the first place, through no fault of the dealer's, but owing to an indiscriminate use of the milk cans, all of the dealer's milk cans and bottles are under suspicion and all milk under suspicion has been destroyed at the orders of the board of health.

Between 400 and 500 quarts have been going out from the Lowell dealer to families covered by his three routes and it is known that two catering es-

NEW YORK LEGISLATORS ARE SUBJECTS OF PROBE FOR GRAFT

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Now that the legislative committee appointed to search for evidence of graft among their colleagues and state officers has commenced its hearings great interest is being taken in the outcome. The books of Ellingwood & Cunningham, stockbrokers, alleged to have been favored with the accounts of several legislators who are supposed to have favored certain legislation sought by public service corporations, have been examined, and several witnesses have told of the transactions of the accused legislators. William W. Cole was one of these witnesses and is said to have disclosed much of a sensational nature. M. Linn Bruce, chief counsel for the committee, is probing the charges with establishments and one large ice cream dealer have been users of the infected milk.

The board, however, has taken unusual precautions to stem the tide of disease and any cases which may develop within the next two weeks, the board says, will be due to the tainted milk used before conditions were revealed to the board.

Beware of So-Called Ones—Imitations

Unscrupulous dealers, mindful only of their profit and caring nothing for the health of their patrons, are offering for sale low grade mixtures, which they tell you are "as good as" Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Some go so far as to try to make you believe it is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. These cheap concoctions are foisted on the people with the intent to deceive.

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and prominent hospitals, and has carried the blessing of health into so many thousands of homes as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. They may imitate the bottle and label only—no one can imitate the contents.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is Beneficial

It is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain. Its palatability and its freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach. It has been used with remarkable results in the treatment of consumption, pneumonia, grip, coughs, colds, malaria, fevers, stomach troubles and all wasting and diseased conditions.

It is sold in sealed bottles only. The Old Chemist's Head is on the label, and over the cork is an engraved seal. Be certain the seal is unbroken. Sold by druggists, grocers, dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle.

Write Medical Department, The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., for doctor's advice and valuable medical booklet.

GEBHARD IS DEAD

Was One of New York's Best Known Clubmen

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Frederick Gebhard, for years one of the best-known clubmen in New York, died yesterday at Garden City, L. I., where he had been stopping since last spring, in the hope of benefiting his health.

Frederick Gebhard, who was one of the most conspicuous New Yorkers for the past quarter of a century, was the son of a butcher who through shrewdness accumulated a fortune. His son spent it, "Freddie," as everybody called him, was handsome in his early years.

He was born about 55 years ago in New York and all his life was spent there except for temporary absences. He was one of the most active clubmen in the city and at one time was able to spend, according to report, $100,000 a year.

A quarter of a century ago Mr. Gebhard entertained largely at his city and country residences and on his steam yacht.

Mr. Gebhard's first love affair of which there is newspaper record was with Miss Leonie Jerome, now Mrs. Jack Leslie. They were engaged for a year. Then Lily Langtry came to this country in 1882 as a chaperone. In the course of her second week's appearance here Gebhard was introduced to her.

Followed Her With Horses

The actress fell in love with his horses. She enjoyed her first sleigh ride behind a pair from his stables. He apparently fell in love with her. He followed her from town to town on her American tour, always taking the horses along with him. They lived at the same hotels. He had several fights on Lily's account and their relations made one of the chief topics of club gossip. The chaperone gave up her responsibilities and went back to Europe alone.

The friendship between Mr. Gebhard and the actress lasted 10 or 12 years, and was the cause of much rumormongering. They had adjoining ranches in California. The break came when Gebhard married Miss Morris in 1894.

Mrs. Langtry bought 4200 acres in Lake County, California, in 1887, when she expected to establish a residence there, and get the divorce which she later secured. Mr. Gebhard bought an adjoining ranch of 3300 acres. She paid $31,000 in cash, and Mr. Gebhard paid $44,000. Soon after the purchase they both built houses on the ranches and stocked them with horses and cattle.

They hired Dr. Aby, an eccentric Kentuckian, to manage the ranches. Some time ago Dr. Aby, of New York, with $300,000 worth of Dr. Gebhard's blood stock and Mrs. Langtry's favorite saddle horse. The train was wrecked, and nearly half the choice animals were killed. The losses were repaired, and thousands of dollars were spent in stock. The manager neglected the ranches, and in 1894 a large lot of horses, for which Mr. Geb-

Marriage With Miss Morris

Mr. Gebhard married Louise Hol-Russworth Morris of Baltimore, March 14, 1894. They were married at Baltimore by Rev. Matthew D. Babcock, at that time pastor of the known Memorial church. The best man was H. de Courcy Forbes. Mr. Gebhard was 37 years old then. His bride was 22. Among the wedding gifts that the bridegroom gave to his bride was a $50,000 diamond necklace and pendant, and a superb ruby, said to be worth $20,000.

Mrs. Gebhard, who was known as one of Baltimore's "big five" most beautiful women, was a daughter of John B. Morris of Baltimore. She first met Mr. Gebhard in the summer of 1892, when they were both guests at her aunt's cottage at Narragansett Point.

They were very much devoted to each other after that, and Gebhard's gifts to Miss Morris were the cause of periodical rumors of their engagement. Among his gifts was a famous Scotch terrier named Dimples. The engagement was not formally announced in Baltimore until January 1894.

Their marriage proved an unhappy one, and after seven years she was granted a divorce in South Dakota. From that time until about four years ago Gebhard was free, but at that time he married Marie Wilson, one of the original Florodora girls. The wedding was kept secret most of a year.

A few years ago Gebhard realized that he had spent most of his fortune and was in debt. His sister, Mrs. Frederick Neilson, the mother-in-law of Reginald Vanderbilt, advanced him $65,000 to settle his debts, but had to sue to recover that sum from him.

About three years ago Gebhard became an agent for a firm of champagne importers, and since that time it is said he made a good living selling wine, coffee and spices.

The doors of the handsome new scenic theatre in Paige street will be thrown open to the public on Monday, September 19, when Resident Manager Carroll will offer to the theatre-going public an excellent program including plays, vaudeville, moving pictures and a one act sketch presented by the theatre's own stock company.

The management of the theatre, intends to run nothing but high class pictures, vaudeville sketches and stock sketches, making a specialty of catering to the women and children. It is a well known fact that anything objectionable will not be tolerated by Messrs. Jennings & Bradstreet, who are the lessees of the local theatre and other scenic theatres throughout New England.

The scenic play will be headed by Geo. D. Mackey, a talented actor, who for the past four summers has had his own company at Lynn. Jessie Overton, who is well known and a general favorite with local theatre goers, having played here with the Adam Good Co., will take the leading female parts and Mr. Mackey and Miss Overton will be supported by a strong company.

Among the sketches to be presented by the company in the near future are "Hearts and Flowers," "Capt. Draper's Escape," "Jim, the Blacksmith," "Dr. George," and many others which are royalty bills. Among the royalty attractions will be sketches from Justin Adams and Howard Hall.

The vaudeville sketches to be presented the opening week include the Victorian Hindoo Troupe, which is composed of mystifiers of the various mystifying arts. The feature of this act is the great disappearance of Lady Selma, which is one of the finest acts in vaudeville.

La Foye and Toohey will give a singing and dancing sketch, including a little skit entitled "The Singer and the Tailor." Daniel Carney will also be seen in his pianologue act.

Philip H. Lederman, the well known local musician, will be the conductor of the orchestra.

The performances will run continuously from 1 o'clock in the afternoon till 10:30 o'clock at night and tickets can be secured one week in advance. Those who purchase reserved seats will always be sure of securing the seats. The general admission will be 10 cents, while 15 cents extra will be charged when a reserved seat is desired.

The following is a list of some of the headliners who will appear at the scenic in the near future: Raymond Moore, the celebrated tenor; Murray and Andrews; Heddlebury Four; the McKinley's; Jas. H. Waters; Madeline Coverley; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thubb; Barclay Deerfoot; the Homans; Six Jolly Sailors; Blake Animal Circus, and many others.
